WORK OF MISSION IS ENDING; NINE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Men, Money, Food and Ships Assured to Allies in Great Drive Against Autocracy—Trade Agreements After War One Feature of Arrangements.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 18.—The work of the Anglo-French missions to the United States is completed.

Arthur James Balfour and Secretary of State Lansing are in conference today, drawing together the last threads of the war which weaves together the wealth, resources and power of the Allies and the United States in the greatest drive against autocracy that the history of the world has ever recorded.

From the work of the British and French missions in the United States there has arisen a series of agreements and arrangements, which make for the greatest alliance of history.

Actual accomplishments of the mission are:

1.—Financial power of the United States, in its entirety, has been thrown against Germany. England has secured loans of $275,000,000 and France loans of $100,000,000. Italy and Russia have also been given loans of $100,000,000 each. Belgium got $45,000,000.

2.—Arrangements have been made for a central purchasing commission for the Allied powers. Through this commission the entire will get the benefit of the same low prices on food, munitions and supplies which would accrue to the United States.

3.—Naval forces of the United States are co-operating with the Allied fleet in wiping out the submarine menace. A flotilla of destroyers flying the stars and stripes is already somewhere in the war zone doing patrol work, and other naval expeditions from the American shores are arranged for.

4.—Trade agreements made which will prevent Germany from securing food supplies from the United States from neutral countries. By virtue of these agreements all the ports of the United States are thrown into the vast pool of the Allies to be equally shared among them.

5.—Ten regiments of United States engineers are now being mobilized to be sent to France. These engineers will take over the work of keeping open all lines of communication behind the lines.

6.—British and French shipping interests have surrendered their contracts on American ship bottoms.

7.—All French and British shipping reserve has been released and the control of shipping space has been placed entirely in the hands of the United States. In return, the United States has promised to speed up its program of standard vessels and wooden ship construction.

8.—General co-operation between the war offices of Great Britain, France and the United States will give the United States armies the benefit of the expert advice of the Allied war leaders at all times while the experiences of the entente armies in the field will be a guidance to the American armies.

9.—Perhaps last, but not least, there has been built the basis for an after-the-war trade agreement. By virtue of this understanding, it seems most probable that there will come a wide sweeping trade engagement which will allow the Allies and the United States to meet the economic war which Germany will wage, when peace has finally been declared.

Bonds Are Strengthened.

Beyond these definite accomplishments, there have been many agreements drawn, which cannot be disclosed for military reasons.

Great bonds of friendship have been made between England, France and the United States, through the workings of the commissions, and there strides out in the distant future—when peace again reigns—a period of reconstruction, when the entire world will be re-made to conform to new standards of liberty and democracy. In this vast era of building the United States will stand out foremost, working shoulder to shoulder with the powers of the entente nations.

Aid Russia and Belgium.

Russia—groping for light in her newly found freedom—has not been neglected by the British and French missions. They have impressed upon the United States leaders the great good which this great democracy can do to aid the new-born democracy of Russia. When the Russian commission, headed by Elihu Root, gets at work in Petrograd, it will be greatly enlightened by suggestions made by the British and French missions.

Belgium has also been a beneficiary, by the visit to America of the British and French missions. Protection of this little country and reparation for the wrongs done it, have been urged as one of the great reasons why the United States should divert its entire strength to the war against Germany.

Health Marriage Law.

Marriage licenses in New York hereafter may not be issued unless accompanied by the sworn statements of the contracting parties that they are free from insidious diseases. Governor Whitman has signed the Whitney bill requiring the presentation of such affidavits. The legislation was advocated by the state department of health.

KAISER REJECTED PEACE PROPOSALS

Von Bethmann-Hollweg's Program Upset by War Lord and Hindenburg at Great Headquarters Conference is Reported—Peace Plan Before Reichstag in July?

By Telegram to The Freeman.
The Hague, May 18.—The Kaiser and Field Marshal von Hindenburg were responsible for the refusal of the German chancellor to announce peace terms in the Reichstag this week, according to advice received here today from Berlin.

It was reported in these dispatches that the chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, had gone so far as to draw up a peace offer suitable to both Germany and Austria-Hungary, but when he took it to German Great Headquarters for the affirmation of the Kaiser, it was rejected at a military council.

There is a growing belief in some circles in Germany that the conference now going on between the German chancellor and Count Cernin, the foreign minister of Austria, may lead to a peace proposition in the Reichstag when it reconvenes in July.

In this same connection there is a renewal of the old rumor that Alsace-Lorraine may be split up between Bavaria and Prussia.

The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, is quoted in telegrams as saying that the proposal to split the two former French provinces resulted from demands of the powerful Central party whose stronghold is in Bavaria.

Polish affairs have come to the front once more in public interest as a result of the announcement of the Berlin Post that a report for Poland will probably be appointed at once.

The prediction is made that the ruler will be an Austrian nobleman, likely Archduke Stephen.

BANKS TO AID LIBERTY LOAN

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 18.—The American Bankers' Association today decided to undertake a nation-wide campaign in behalf of the liberty loan. Officers of the association are planning to reach the people of the entire country by operating through the thousands of banks which are members of the organization.

A special war loan committee of the association has been organized and this body will have at its disposal the well organized facilities of the association for disseminating propaganda among the members. The American Bankers' Association recently conducted a thrift campaign which resulted in the creation of thousands of new savings accounts and the same facilities used for this purpose will be turned to account to make the liberty loan a success.

The association will co-operate with the treasury department and will arrange for advertising by its member banks with a view to inducing Americans in every hamlet, village, town and city, the United States to economize and invest what he has saved in liberty loan bonds.

MAY ROUND UP "SLACKERS."

New Work for Women Suggested by Colonel Walsh in New York.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, May 18.—New York women are likely to be enlisted in the duty of rounding up "slackers." Enlistment has been so slow in New York, Colonel Walsh, in charge of army recruiting here today said he contemplates calling in society women to help him out.

Instead of pinning white feathers on those who shy at army service, as was done in England, the women would hand each hangerback a card bearing the question: "Why don't you do your bit?"

New York must have 258 recruits a day for thirty days to supply its quota for new regiments of infantry and artillery.

C. of C. Folk at Nyack.

President Robert E. Leighton, Director John E. Kearney and Secretary James E. Canfield of the Chamber of Commerce, are in Nyack attending the sessions of the Hudson Valley Federations of Chambers of Commerce. The afternoon session will be addressed by Roy S. Smith, of the American City Bureau, which reorganized the local chamber. He will speak on "The Making of a Commercial Organization."

All on Board Saved.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
San Francisco, May 18.—All of the 159 men who were aboard the cannery steamship Standard around Cape Constantino, Alaska, have been taken off according to late wireless dispatches. Earlier reports told of one of five life-boats containing 29 men, reaching shore, but it was believed that the rest were lost.

BRITISH OFFICERS AIDING OPERATIONS

American Fleet Doing Good Work Against Submarines Across Atlantic—Washington Confident That Destroyers Will Solve Problem of Undersea Enemy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 18.—That British naval officers may assist in directing the operations of the United States fleet on this side of the Atlantic was indicated today by the Times.

In the course of an editorial upon the Navy League luncheon, the Times made the following reference to the co-operation of Rear Admiral Sims, U. S. N., with the British admirals:

"In return, we are lending them (the Americans) Captain Evans, of the destroyer Broke."

It was the Broke which recently engaged in a thrilling fight with German destroyers at the eastern end of the English channel.

According to the Chronicle, the American fleet escorted the White Star liner Adriatic safely into port upon its arrival at the "barred zone" waters.

German submarines were evidently lying in wait for the Adriatic, which has been called the "Queen of the Munitions Fleet."

The Chronicle adds that the American men of war "had a successful brush with the submarines, which were driven off."

Strengthen Patrol System.

Washington, May 18.—German submarines are being held in their home bases by a new and greatly strengthened patrol system. In this patrol the American destroyer squadron is "doing its bit," and doing it well, according to confidential advice reaching members of the foreign missions now here.

That is the real reason why there has been a falling off in the number of sinkings. And, the experts here who are aware of what is going on, declare that never again will Germany have a "million tons any month." The solution of the submarine evil is fast destroyers, well armed and equipped, who will watch the outlets from the submarine bases. That is exactly what is going on, officials say, at the present time on the other side of the ocean. There are only certain channels through which the big submarines now being used by Germany can get to the open sea. These are now being watched so carefully that it is estimated the number of German submarines operating has been reduced at least one-half.

The more destroyers that the United States can assign to this work the better the result must be. Fresh trained men and new speedy boats admittedly are the thing most wanted by the British and French admiralty.

Rumors of a Sub Raid.

Reports reaching Washington today from Scandinavian countries indicate that Germany is now holding a number of her biggest and best fleet submarines at strategic points. It is suggested that these vessels are intended for a raid against the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The navy feels good over the knowledge that its vessels and men are on the job over seas. This fact is expected to greatly stimulate recruiting and to help in many other ways in stirring up enthusiasm. The scientists will continue their search for a new method of coping with the submarines, but officials say it is certain that the sure way is to build more and more destroyers and get them into commission wherever there is a chance that a submarine may be located.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE.

Extra Premiums Instead of Cancellation of Policies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, May 18.—Life insurance policies of men enlisting in the army and navy are not to be forfeited if plans being made today by the Actuarial Association of America, in session at the Hotel Astor, are carried out. It is proposed that "war extra" premiums for men going to Europe shall be $100 a year for each $1,000 of a policy, and $37.50 a thousand for those who merely join the colors without knowledge of their ultimate destination. Several companies have announced that a refund on overcharges will be made to policy holders after the war.

District Exemption Boards.

There is to be a board of exemptions to determine what men between the ages of 21 and 30 shall be exempted from military service in each judicial district. One of the members of the board, which shall be composed of three men, is to be designated by the federal district judge. The other two are to be designated by the governor of the state, one of them to be an agriculturist and the other an employer of labor. All three, following their designation, must be named by the president. Each board will be required to sit in its own judicial district.

Dance at East Kingston.

A dance under the auspices of the Children of Mary of St. Columba's Church will be held at St. Columba's Hall Saturday evening. Music will be furnished by Professor Schwalbach and refreshments will be for sale. The advance sale of tickets indicates a large attendance and a good time is assured all who attend.

SUTHERLAND DEWITT DEAD IN ELMIRA

Native of Kingston and Descendant of Old Dutch Stock Was Prominent in Business and Fraternal Life of Chemung County City.

Lord has been received in this city of the death of Sutherland DeWitt, a native of Kingston, a member of the old Ulster county family of that name, which occurred in Elmira, where he had been a prominent citizen for many years.

Mr. DeWitt was born in Kingston April 9, 1839, the son of Charles Gerret DeWitt, a member of congress from the Ulster and Sullivan district when Andrew Jackson was president and John C. Calhoun was vice-president. He was named after Dr. Joel B. Sutherland, of Pennsylvania, a personal friend of his father. About the same time Dr. Sutherland had a son born and he was named Charles DeWitt Sutherland, who died only a few years ago, an attaché of the navy department, Washington.

Sutherland DeWitt was but eight years old when his father died. He was educated at the Middletown, N. Y., Academy. While at the academy the Erie railway was extended from Piermont on the Hudson to Middletown, a distance of 85 miles. Connection was made by steamboat and barge between Piermont and New York city. By the time he graduated the road had been extended towards Dunkirk, N. Y., as far as Binghamton. Here young DeWitt began his railroad life by becoming a member of a corps of civil engineers and assisted in laying the track between Binghamton and Owego. On the opening of the road to Owego he was present at the celebration and then was sent on to Hornell to run an experimental line up the Cohocton Valley to Stony Brook, opposite Dansville, N. Y., where the party was recalled the Canisteo route having been adopted and sent out to Allegany county and continued on the line until the railroad was finished at Dunkirk, N. Y.

The party of civil engineers was then sent to Toronto, Canada, to build the first Canadian railroad, the Ontario, Simcoe & Huron, extending from Toronto to the Hen and Chickens (now Collingwood) on Lake Huron.

After completing this road, Mr. DeWitt was sent on with a party, as draughtsman, to locate a road between Indianapolis, Ind., and Detroit, Ill. Before this road was finished hard times came on and all railroad building ceased. Meanwhile life in Indiana had been very far from pleasant; many were down with fever and ague, and, to add to the trouble, cholera. In its worst form swept through that section of the west and so when the party was sent home, on reaching the state of New York they felt in God's country once more.

Mr. DeWitt was then appointed station agent at Bradford, Simcoe county, Canada, which post he held for three years to the satisfaction of the merchants and traders; so much so that they gave him a parting dinner and presented to him a splendid silver inkstand of unique and beautiful design, and this memento stands now in his office as good as new, notwithstanding its age of 58 years.

In June, 1857, at the expiration of the three years, he resigned to accept the agency of the United States and Adams companies' express at Elmira, a joint agency, which he held for 25 years, all through the war, when the Adams withdrew and started an office of their own.

He served the express company 40 years and was then retired with honor on a pension. During his service he never had a lawsuit either on his own or the company's account.

Mr. DeWitt had held the office of master, high priest and commander in Masonic bodies; for 35 years he was secretary and treasurer of the Expressmen's Mutual Benefit Association, during which time all death claims were paid promptly in full, without one single case of default. For four years he held the office of alderman of the First ward and four years police commissioner; he was a member of the Holland Society of New York city, being of good old Holland Dutch descent. He was also an ex-president of the Newtown Battle Chapter, Sons of the Revolution; member of the Century Club; the oldest living past commander of St. Omer's Commandery, No. 19, Knights Templar. His great-grandfather, Charles DeWitt, of Ulster county, to whom a public monument stands at Hurley, was a member of the Colonial Association, 1768-75, member of the Provincial Congress, 1776-77, and voted to ratify the Declaration of Independence. He was a member of the first Constitutional Convention of New York and of the committee which framed the constitution of 1777; member of the Constitutional Congress of 1784, and a member of the New York Assembly in 1781-85-87.

Surviving is his wife and one son, Thomas DeWitt, of Cleveland, who like his father, had long been connected with the express business.

Captain Bush in Accident.

Thursday afternoon while Captain David Bush, who headed the experts of Aretas Lodge in the famous pinocchio contest that closed some time ago, was injured when he was thrown from his bicycle on Murray street, when the front wheel struck an obstruction in the road, hurling Captain Bush off. Fortunately for the captain he did not injure his playing arm and is still in the ring and capable of trimming Hank Jones, another famous pinocchio expert of the local post office department.

ARMY STOVES BURN IN ALBANY BLAZE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., May 18.—Over 4,000 tent stoves for the United States army were destroyed by fire which demolished the main plant of the Rathbore Sard & Company stove works here early this morning. The fire was discovered by the night watchman, who said it started in the front of the building in some barrels of rubbish beneath a cellar stairway. The flames spread rapidly and were enveloping the plant before the firemen arrived, property was threatened for two or three hours until the firemen finally placed the flames under control. The damage will exceed $100,000.

The fact that the company had large government contracts for tent stoves was generally known, and because of the mystery regarding how the fire started, local police and government officials are investigating. The company had contracts for supplying the army with 40,000 tent stoves and the 4,000 destroyed in this morning's fire were the first consignment, and many were already on cars on the company's spur track and could not be removed, because of the rapidity with which the flames spread.

NEWSPAPER STORY LED TO ARREST

The Freeman Story of Leonard of Downsville and His Adventures in Kingston Led to Corbett Firm Asking Police to Pick Him Up on Foreign Charge.

Several days ago The Freeman ran a story relating the experience of one Thomas Leonard of Downsville, who informed the local police department that he had been robbed. He said that he had come to Kingston and was met at the O. & W. station by two young men in a taxi, who invited him to go to the lake. He went. When he returned to Kingston the young friends left him at a hotel. Next morning when Leonard woke up he found his roll of $50 was missing.

This story was reprinted in one of the Catskill Mountain newspapers and the item was read by the firm of Corbett & Stuart at Corbett in Delaware county. They clipped the item out and with a letter of explanation sent it to Chief Wood. The letter stated that on April 25 of this year they had entrusted a check for $27.50 to Leonard, whose right name is Frank instead of Thomas, to deliver to D. Osterhoudt, with whom Frank boarded. The check was to pay Frank's board bill and the balance was to pay Mr. Osterhoudt for some work in cutting wood for the firm. The firm claims that Leonard did not deliver the check to Osterhoudt, but forged Osterhoudt's name to it and got it cashed and then skipped.

Leonard told the local police at the time that he had been robbed of $50. Sergeant Hanley learned that Leonard was working in town and caught him this morning. Leonard will be held until the Delaware county authorities can send after him.

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE PLANS

The members of the joint committee which has charge of the Citizens' Division of the big Memorial Day Parade already have a large number of responses from factories and stores stating that their employees will participate in the big citizens' division of the parade.

The women's division of the parade will be one of the features this year and as the line of march will be short there are many women and girls who will avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in the parade.

The members of the citizens' committee sent out cards a few days ago with return cards attached upon which the factories and stores may signify their intentions in regard to the number of employees who will march. The women's division promises to be one of the main features of the big parade.

The committee is making every effort to have every factory and store represented in the parade and those who have not returned the card should do so at once in order that the number of people who will march in this division may be known and plans made accordingly. Proprietors of stores and factories should at their earliest opportunity make an endeavor to find out how many of their employees will participate and especially the number of women who will march. The line of march is short and will bring the parade to the Academy Green in time to witness the raising of the Dorothy Freeman Flag by Miss Freeman. This will take place shortly after noon. All flags on Memorial Day should be floated at half mast until noon time and for this reason the Dorothy Freeman flag will not be raised until after twelve o'clock in order that it may float to the breeze from the top of the flag staff.

H. S. GIRLS FOR MEMORIAL PARADE

Drill Fever Affects Young Women Who Will Take Part in Decoration Day Exercises—Ex-President Taft Here Wednesday—Midgets Meet Saugerties.

This military fever certainly is contagious. Now that the high school boys have reached the stage of instruction under Captain Fowler, where they have lost all vestiges of uncertainty in the difficult turns in the drill, the girls can't bear merely sitting by and looking on. All this week, after a big mass meeting on Monday afternoon, several companies of girls, numbering in all about two hundred, have been going through the paces under the guidance of their teachers as drill mistresses. The reason for the excitement is not that the lassies are getting ready for any suffragist demonstration, but because they're going to take part in the big Memorial Day parade. "Squads right," "column left," and other drill commands from a feminine voice in Kingston's streets will be somewhat of a novelty, but it surely is to be a success, if the present appearance of the squads marching about the gymnasium or school grounds is an indication. An inspiring picture it will be, that of several hundred school girls all dressed in white with red ties (representing the school colors) walking with military precision through the thoroughfares of our peaceful town.

The new brown "hids" of the boys don't make them keep step and better, but it seems as if watchers of their drills these afternoons. They have advanced to a point where they are now quite skillful at the manoeuvres.

Midgets vs. Saugerties.

The war hasn't thrown any bombs into the Midget baseball camp as yet, but they stirred up things at the athletic field enough this afternoon to give the scenery of that section a sanguinary atmosphere when they grappled with the Saugerties school team, their first game with an out of town team.

The Taft Lecture.

Only four more days remain before ex-President Taft gives his lecture in the school under the auspices of the Juniors. Undoubtedly the auditorium will be packed to hear the famous statesman, whose topic is "Our World Relationships." The Junior committee in charge consists of Harry Connelly, Irving Gutteridge, James Betts and Ernest Pelen. Tickets are now on sale at 35, 50 and 75 cents.

Red Cross Workers.

The Red Cross workers in the school have been divided into 21 groups, ten to the group. The chairmen are the following: John Cooper, Anna Cassler, Rufus Van Aken, Elsa Stern, Ruth Vignes, Olga Owens, Charlotte Phillips, Frances Miller, Edith DuFon, Ruth Ashley, Alice Scott, Margaret Meeker, Jane Reuben, Margaret Van Wageningen, Anna Silver, Charles Kennedy, John Schenck, Jr., Jerome Cashin, Charles Whitaker, Myrtle Van Williams, Katherine Diamond.

Challenged Again.

We've forgotten who did win that battle of Bennington in the early days of the Revolution, but if the British did, it's a safe bet that they had a standing invitation to come back and try it again. Disappointed in the Vermont village over their girls' defeat at Kingston's hands in this city about a month ago, they've dug out and Captain Josephine Schmid of the locals has received an offer from the town clerk, "The Bennington Banner," challenging the Kingston girls to a return engagement, the "Banner" to assume all traveling expenses of the visitors. Such an offer is alluring and the girls are sure that they could beat the Benningtoners again, but as they all said their farewell to a basketball some weeks ago, it was deemed advisable to refuse.

POLICE ROUND UP AUTO SPEEDERS

The police department speed trap was in good working order on Thursday and as a result Officer Shadler rounded up two or more auto speeders caught running their machines at a speed of about 25 miles an hour. The speeders were Leslie Widner of Arlington and H. L. Bunker of New York city. Both were arraigned before Recorder Lang Thursday afternoon and fined $5 each which they paid. This makes four speeders so far caught in the speed trap.

Gardner at Governor's Island.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, May 18.—Augustus P. Gardner, adjutant general's reserve corps, who resigned his seat in Congress as representative from Massachusetts, to join the colors, was today assigned to active duty at Governor's Island, N. Y. It was originally stated that he would be sent to the southeastern department.

Lawyer Kiernan Resumes Practice.

Lawyer E. A. McKiernan, who was hit by a train at the West Shore station last October, is again at his office and has resumed the practice of law. Mr. McKiernan with the aid of crutches was able to attend city court this morning for the first time since the accident.

IRISH HARMONY A REMOTE PROSPECT

Nationalists and Unionists Both Opposed to Acceptance of Latest Effort for Home Rule—Convention "A Step Towards Anarchy."

By Telegram to The Freeman.
London, May 18.—Divergent views were expressed today over the proposal that the home rule for Ireland question be settled by a convention of leading Irishmen rather than by parliament.

The Chronicle believes that the scheme will be successful. On the other hand the convention idea is being opposed by Frederick Harrison, the famous English writer. Mr. Harrison in a letter to the Post today, says that the holding of an Irish convention would be a "step towards anarchy."

As to the participation of the Ulster constituents (anti home-rulers) in a general Irish convention, the Chronicle says that they cannot refuse if they have any regard for the public interest.

Attention is directed towards the keen interest in the Irish home rule in the United States, the Chronicle making reference to it in its leading editorial.

A Dublin dispatch printed in the Times today says:

"So far as certainly ever can exist in Irish politics, it is already certain that the government will not get anything like an acceptance for the Irish scheme from both Irish parties (the Nationalists and Unionists). The Nationalists are unanimously hostile."

WORK OF MISSION IS ENDING; NINE ACCOMPLISHMENTS

Men, Money, Food and Ships Assured to Allies in Great Drive Against Autocracy—Trade Agreements Arrived—War One Feature of Arrangements.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 18.—The work of the Anglo-French missions to the United States is completed.

Arthur James Balfour and Secretary of State Lansing are in conference today, drawing together the last threads of the work which weaves together the wealth, resources and manpower of the Allies and the United States in the greatest drive against autocracy that the history of the world has ever recorded.

From the work of the British and French missions in the United States there has arisen a series of agreements to aid arrangements, which make for the greatest alliance of history.

Actual accomplishments of the missions are:

1.—Financial power of the United States, in its entirety, has been thrown against Germany. England has secured loans of $275,000,000 and France loans of $100,000,000. Italy and Russia have also been given loans of $100,000,000 each. Belgium got $45,000,000.

2.—Arrangements have been made for a central purchasing commission for the Allies powers. Through this commission the entire will get the benefit of the same low prices on food, munitions and supplies which would accrue to the United States.

3.—Naval power of the United States are co-operating with the Allied fleet in wiping out the submarine menace. A flotilla of destroyers flying the stars and stripes is already somewhere in the war zone doing patrol work, and other naval expeditions from the American shores are arranged for.

4.—Trade agreements made which will prevent Germany from securing food supplies from the United States from neutral countries. By virtue of these agreements all the ports of the United States are thrown into the vast pool of the Allies to be equally shared among them.

5.—Ten regiments of United States engineers are now being mobilized and sent to France. These engineers will be the first of the American army to see the front.

6.—British and French shipping interests have surrendered their contracts on American ship bottoms.

7.—All French and British shipping reserve has been released and the control of shipping space has been placed entirely in the hands of the United States. In return, the United States has promised to speed up its program of standard vessels and wooden ship construction.

8.—General co-operation between the war offices of Great Britain, France and the United States will benefit the United States armies through the expert advice of the Allies war leaders at all times while the experience of the entire armistice will be a guide to the American armies.

9.—Perhaps last, but not least, there has been built the basis for an after-the-war trade agreement. By virtue of this understanding, it seems most probable that there will come a wide sweeping trade engagement which will allow the Allies and the United States to meet the economic war which Germany will wage, when peace has finally been declared.

Bonds are Strengthened.

Beyond these definite accomplishments, there have been many agreements drawn, which cannot be disclosed for military reasons.

Great bonds of friendship have been made between England, France and the United States, through the workings of the commissions, and there is no doubt in the distant future—when peace again reigns—a period of reconstruction, when the entire world will be re-made to conform to new standards of liberty and democracy. In this vast era of building the United States will stand out foremost, working shoulder to shoulder with the powers of the entente nations.

Aid Russia and Belgium.

Russia—growing for light in her newly found freedom—has not been neglected by the British and French missions. They have impressed upon the United States leaders the great good which this great democracy can do to aid the new-born democracy of Russia. When the Russian commission, headed by Eilhu Rot, gets at work in Petrograd, it will be greatly "enlightened" by suggestions made by the British and French missions.

Belgium has also been a beneficiary by the visit to America of the British and French. Protection of this little country and preparation for the wrongs done it, have been urged as one of the great reasons why the United States should divert its entire strength to the war against Germany.

Health Marriage Law.

Marriage licenses in New York hereafter may not be issued unless accompanied by the sworn statements of the contracting parties that they are free from infectious diseases. Governor Whitman has signed the Whitney bill requiring the presentation of such affidavits. The legislation was advocated by the state department of health.

KAISER REJECTED PEACE PROPOSALS

Von Bethmann-Hollweg's Program Upset by War Lord and von Hindenburg at Great Headquarters Conference is Reported—Peace Plan Before Reichstag in July?

By Telegram to The Freeman.

The Hague, May 18.—The Kaiser and Field Marshal von Hindenburg were responsible for the refusal of the German chancellor to announce peace terms in the Reichstag this week, according to advice received here today from Berlin.

It was reported in these dispatches that the chancellor, Dr. von Bethmann-Hollweg, had gone so far as to draw up a peace offer suitable to both Germany and Austria-Hungary, but when he took it to German Great Headquarters for the affirmation of the Kaiser, it was rejected at a military council.

There is a growing belief in some circles in Germany that the conferences now going on between the German chancellor and Count Cernin, the foreign minister of Austria, may lead to a peace proposition in the Reichstag when it reconvenes in July.

In this same connection there is a renewal of the old rumor that Alsace-Lorraine may be split up between Bavaria and Prussia.

The Vossische Zeitung, of Berlin, is quoted in telegrams as saying that the proposal to split the two former French provinces resulted from demands of the powerful Central party whose stronghold is in Bavaria.

Polish affairs have come to the front once more in public interest as a result of the announcement of the Berlin Post that a regent for Poland will probably be appointed at once.

The prediction is made that the ruler will be an Austrian nobleman, likely Archduke Stephen.

BANKS TO AID LIBERTY LOAN

Washington, May 18.—The American Bankers' Association today decided to undertake a nation-wide campaign in behalf of the Liberty loan. Officers of the association are planning to reach the people of the entire country by operating through the thousands of banks which are members of the organization.

A special war loan committee of the association has been organized and this body will have at its disposal the well organized facilities of the association for disseminating propaganda among the members.

The American Bankers' Association recently conducted a thrift campaign which resulted in the creation of thousands of new savings accounts and the same facilities used for this purpose will be turned to account to make the Liberty loan a success.

The association will co-operate with the treasury department and will arrange for advertising by its member banks with a view to induce Americans in every hamlet, village, town and city in the United States to economize and invest what he has saved in Liberty loan bonds.

MAY ROUND UP "SLACKERS."

Now Work for Women Suggested by Colonel Walsh in New York.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 18.—New York women are likely to be enlisted in the duty of rounding up "slackers." Enlistment has been so slow in New York, Colonel Walsh, in charge of army recruiting here today said he contemplates calling in society women to help him out.

Instead of pinning white feathers on those who shy at army service, as was done in England, the women would hand each slacker a card bearing the question: "Why don't you do your bit?"

New York must have 258 recruits a day for thirty days to supply its quota for new regiments of infantry and artillery.

C. of C. Folk at Nyack.

President Robert E. Leighton, Director John B. Kearney and Secretary James E. Cannon of the Chamber of Commerce, are in Nyack today attending the sessions of the Hudson Valley Federations of Chambers of Commerce. The afternoon session will be addressed by Roy S. Smith, of the American City Bureau, which reorganized the local chamber. He will speak on "The Making of a Commercial Organization."

All on Board Sailed.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

San Francisco, May 18.—All of the 159 men who were aboard the cannery steamer Standard around Cape Constantine, Alaska, have been taken off according to late wireless dispatches. Earlier reports told of one of five life-boats containing 29 men, reaching shore, but it was believed that the rest were lost.

BRITISH OFFICERS AIDING OPERATIONS

American Fleet Doing Good Work Against Submarines Across Atlantic—Washington Confident That Destroyers Will Solve Problem of Undersea Enemy.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 18.—That British naval officers may assist in directing the operations of the United States fleet on this side of the Atlantic was indicated today by the Times.

In the course of an editorial upon the Navy League luncheon, the Times made the following reference to the co-operation of Rear Admiral Sims, U. S. N., with the British admiralty.

"In return we are lending them (the Americans) Captain Evans, of the destroyer Broke."

It was the Broke which recently engaged in a thrilling fight with German destroyers at the eastern end of the English channel.

According to the Chronicle, the American fleet escorted the White Star liner Adriatic safely into port upon its arrival at the "barred zone" waters.

German submarines were evidently lying in wait for the Adriatic, which has been called the "Queen of the Munitions Fleet."

The Chronicle adds that the American men of war "had a successful brush with the submarines, which were driven off."

Strengthen Patrol System.

Washington, May 18.—German submarines are being held in their home bases by a new and greatly strengthened patrol system. In this patrol the American destroyer squadron is "doing its bit," and doing it well, according to confidential advice reaching members of the foreign missions now here.

That is the real reason why there has been a falling off in the number of sinkings. And the experts here who are aware of what is going on declare that never again will Germany have a "million tons any month."

The solution of the submarine evil is fast destroyers, well armed and equipped, who will watch the outlets from the submarine bases. That is exactly what is going on, officials say, at the present time on the other side of the ocean.

There are only certain channels through which the big submarines now being used by Germany can get to the open sea. These are now being watched so carefully that it is estimated the number of German submarines operating has been reduced at least one-half.

The more destroyers that the United States can assign to this work the better the result must be as fresh trained men and new speedy boats admittedly are the thing most wanted by the British and French admiralty.

Rumors of a Sub Raid.

Reports reaching Washington today from Scandinavian countries indicate that Germany is now holding a number of her biggest and best fleet submarines at strategic points. It is suggested that these vessels are intended for a raid against the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The navy feels good over the knowledge that its vessels and men are on the job over seas. This fact is expected to greatly stimulate recruiting and to help in many other ways in stirring up enthusiasm. The scientists will continue their search for a new method of coping with the submarines, but officials say it is certain that the sure way is to build more and more destroyers and get them into commission wherever there is a chance that a submarine may be located.

SOLDIERS' INSURANCE.

Extra Premiums Instead of Cancellation of Policies.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 18.—Life insurance policies of men enlisting in the army and navy are not to be forfeited if plans being made today by the Actuarial Association of America, in session at the Hotel Astor, are carried out. It is proposed that "war extra" premiums for men going to Europe shall be $100 a year for each $1,000 of a policy, and $37.50 a thousand for those who merely join the colors without knowledge of their ultimate destination. Several companies have announced that a refund on overcharges will be made to policy holders after the war.

District Exemption Boards.

There is to be a board of exemptions to determine what men between the ages of 21 and 30 shall be exempted from military service in each judicial district. One of the members of the board, which shall be composed of three men, is to be designated by the federal district judge. The other two are to be designated by the governor of the state, one of them to be an agriculturist and the other an employer of labor. All three, following their designation, must be named by the president. Each board will be required to sit in its own judicial district.

SUTHERLAND DEWITT DEAD IN ELMIRA

Native of Kingston and Descendant of Old Dutch Stock Was Prominent in Business and Fraternal Life of Chemung County City.

Word has been received in this city of the death of Sutherland DeWitt, a native of Kingston, a member of the old Ulster county family of that name, which occurred in Elmira, where he had been a prominent citizen for many years.

Mr. DeWitt was born in Kingston April 9, 1836, the son of Charles Gerard DeWitt, a member of congress from the Ulster and Sullivan district, when Andrew Jackson was president.

He was named after Dr. Joel B. Sutherland, of Pennsylvania, a personal friend of his father. About the same time Dr. Sutherland had a son born and he was named Charles DeWitt Sutherland, who died only a few years ago, and he was named after the department of Washington.

Sutherland DeWitt was but eight years old when his father died. He was educated at the Middlebury, N. Y. Academy. While at the academy the Erie railway was extended from Piermont on the Hudson to Middletown, a distance of 35 miles. Connections were made by steamboat and barges between Piermont and New York city. By the time he graduated the road had been extended towards Dunkirk, N. Y., as far as Binghamton. Here young DeWitt began his railroad life by becoming a member of a corps of civil engineers and assisted in laying the track between Binghamton and Owego. On the opening of the road to Owego he was present at the celebration and then was sent on to Hornell to run an experimental line up the Cohocton valley to Stony Brook, opposite Dansville, N. Y., where the party was recalled the Canadian route having been adopted and sent out to Allegany county and continued on the line until the railroad was finished at Dunkirk, N. Y. The party of civil engineers was then sent to Toronto, Canada, to build the first Canadian railroad, the Ontario, Simcoe & Huron, extending from Toronto to the Ken and Chikens (now Collingwood) on Lake Huron.

After completing this work, Mr. DeWitt was sent on with a party, as a draughtsman, to locate a road between Indian Point, Ind., and Decatur, Ill. Before this road was finished hard times came on and all railroad building ceased. Mr. DeWitt in Indiana had been very far from pleasant; many were down with fever and ague, and, to add to the trouble, cholera in its worst form swept through that section of the west and so when the party was sent home, on reaching the state of New York they felt in God's country once more.

Mr. DeWitt was then appointed station agent at Bradford, Simcoe county, Canada, which post he held for three years to the satisfaction of the merchants and traders; so much so that they gave him a parking dinner and presented to him a splendid belt. It is suggested that these vessels are intended for a raid against the Atlantic coast of the United States.

The navy feels good over the knowledge that its vessels and men are on the job over seas. This fact is expected to greatly stimulate recruiting and to help in many other ways in stirring up enthusiasm. The scientists will continue their search for a new method of coping with the submarines, but officials say it is certain that the sure way is to build more and more destroyers and get them into commission wherever there is a chance that a submarine may be located.

ARMY STOVES BURN IN ALBANY BLAZE

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Albany, N. Y., May 18.—Over 4,000 tent stoves for the United States army were destroyed by fire which demolished the main plant of the Hathorne Sord & Company stove works here early this morning. The fire was discovered by the night watchman, who said it started in the front of the building in some barrels of rubbish beneath a cellar stairway. The flames spread rapidly and were developing the plant before the firemen arrived, nearly property was threatened for two or three hours until the firemen finally placed the flames under control. The damage will exceed $100,000.

The fact that the company had large government contracts for tent stoves was generally known, and because of the mystery regarding how the fire started, local police and government officials are investigating. The company had contracts for supplying the army with 40,000 tent stoves and the 4,000 destroyed in this morning's fire were the first consignment, and many were already on cars on the company's spur track and could not be removed, because of the rapidity with which the flames spread.

The Freeman Story of Leonard of Downsville and His Adventures in Kingston Led to Corbett Firm Asking Police to Pick Him Up on Forevery Charge.

Several days ago The Freeman ran a story relating the experience of one Thomas Leonard of Downsville, who informed the local police department that he had been robbed. He said that he had come to Kingston and was met at the O. & W. station by two young men in a taxi, who invited him to go in the lake. He went. When he returned to Kingston the next morning when Leonard woke up he found his roll of $50 was missing. This story was retold by one of the Catskill Mountain newspapers.

Corbett & Stuart at Corbett in Delaware county. They clipped the item out and with a letter of explanation sent it to Chief Wood. The letter stated that on April 25 of this year they had entrusted a check for $62.75 to Leonard, whose right name is Frank instead of Thomas, to deliver to D. Osterhout, with whom Frank boarded. The check was to pay Frank's board bill and the balance was to pay Mr. Osterhout for some work in cutting wood for the firm. The firm claims that Leonard did not deliver the check to Osterhout, but forged Osterhout's name to it and got it cashed and then skipped.

Leonard told the local police at the time that he had been robbed of $50. Sergeant Hanley learned that Leonard was working in town and caught him this morning. Leonard will be held until the Delaware county authorities can send after him.

MEMORIAL DAY PARADE PLANS

The members of the joint committee which has charge of the Citizens' Division of the big Memorial Day Parade already have a large number of responses from factories and stores stating that their employees will participate in the big citizens' division of the parade.

The women's division of the parade will be one of the features this year and as the time of march will be short there are many women and girls who will avail themselves of the opportunity to participate in the parade.

The members of the citizens' committee sent out cards a few days ago with return cards attached upon which the factories and stores may signify their intentions in regard to the number of employees who will march. The women's division promises to be one of the main features of the big parade.

The committee is making every effort to have every factory and store represented in the parade and those who have not returned the card should do so at once in order that the number of people who will march in this division may be known and plans made accordingly. Proprietors of stores and factories should at their earliest opportunity make an endeavor to find out how many of their employees will participate and especially the number of women who will march. The line of march is short and will bring the parade to the Academy Green in time to witness the raising of the Dorothy Freeman Flag by Miss Freeman. This will take place shortly after noon. All flags on Memorial day should be hoisted at half mast until noon time and for this reason the Dorothy Freeman flag will not be raised until after twelve o'clock in order that it may float in the breeze from the top of the flag staff.

H. S. GIRLS FOR MEMORIAL PARADE

This military fever certainly is contagious. Now that the high school boys have reached the stage of instruction under Captain Fowler where they have lost all vestiges of unaccountness in the difficult turns in the drill, the girls can't bear merely sitting by and looking on. All this week, after a big mass meeting on Monday afternoon, several companies of girls, numbering in all about two hundred, have been going through the paces under the guidance of their teachers as drill mistresses. The reason for the excitement is not that the lassies are getting ready for any sort of a demonstration, but because they're going to take part in the big Memorial Day parade. "Squad right," "column left," and other drill commands from a feminine voice in Kingston's streets will be somewhat of a novelty, but it surely is to be a success. If the present appearance of the squads marching about the gymnasium or school grounds is an indication, an inspiring salute it will be, the of several hundred school girls (representing the school colors) walking with military precision through the thoroughfares of our peaceful town.

The new brown "tids" of the boys don't make them keep step and better, but it seems so to watchers of their drills these afternoons. They have advanced to a point where they are now quite skillful at the manoeuvres.

Midgets vs. Sangeries.

The war hasn't thrown any bombs into the Midget baseball camp as yet, but they stirred up things at the athletic field enough this afternoon to give the scenery of that section a sanguinary atmosphere when they grappled with the Sangeries school team, their first game with an out of town team.

The Taft Lecture.

Only four more days remain before ex-President Taft gives his lecture in the school under the auspices of the juniors. Undoubtedly the auditorium will be packed to hear the famous statesman, whose topic is "Our World Relationships." The Junior committee in charge consists of Harry Connolly, Irving Guttmann, James Helts and Ernest Pelen. Tickets are now on sale at 35, 50 and 75 cents.

Red Cross Committee.

The Red Cross workers in the school have been divided into 21 groups, ten to the group. The chairmen are the following: Joan Cooper, Anna Cassler, Rufus Van Aken, Elsa Stern, Ruth Vignos, Olga Owens, Charlotte Phillips, Frances Miller, Edith DuFon, Ruth Ashley, Alice Scott, Margaret Meeker, Jane Reuben, Margaret Van Wageningen, Anna Silverstein, Charlotte Kennedy, John Schoenmaker, Jr., Jerome Cashin, Charles Whitaker, Myrtle Van Williams, Katherine Diamond.

Challenged Again.

We've forgotten who did win that battle of Bennington in the early days of the Revolution, but if the British did, it's a safe bet that they had a standing invitation to come back and try it again. Disappointed in the Vermont village over their girls' defeat at Kingston's hands in this city about a month ago has not yet died out and Captain Josephine Schmid of the locals has received an offer from the town clinch, "The Bennington Banner," challenging the Kingston girls to a return engagement, the "Banner" to assume all traveling expenses of the visitors. Such an offer is alluring and the girls are sure that they could beat the Bennington team again, but as they all said their farewell to a basketball some weeks ago, it was deemed advisable to refuse.

POLICE ROUND UP AUTO SPEEDERS

The police department speed trap was in good working order on Thursday and as a result Officer Shadler rounded up two or more auto speeders caught running their machines at a speed of about 25 miles an hour. The speeders were Leslie Widner of Arlington and H. L. Bunker of New York city. Both were arraigned before Recorder Lang Thursday afternoon and fined $5 each, which they paid. This makes four speeders so far caught in the speed trap.

IRISH HARMONY A REMOTE PROSPECT

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 18.—Divergent views were expressed today over the proposal that the home rule for Ireland question be settled by a convention of leading Irishmen rather than by parliament.

The Chronicle believes that the scheme will be successful. On the other hand the convention idea is being opposed by Frederick Harrison, the famous English writer. Mr. Harrison in a letter to the Post today, says that the holding of an Irish convention would be a "step towards anarchy."

As to the participation of the Ulster constituents (anti home-rulers) in a general Irish convention, the Chronicle says that they cannot refuse if they have any regard for the public interest.

Attention is directed towards the keen interest in the Irish home rule in the United States. The Chronicle makes reference to it in its leading editorial.

A Dublin dispatch printed in the Times today says:

"So far as certainly ever can exist in Irish politics, it is already certain that the government will not get anything like an acceptance for the Irish scheme from both Irish parties (Nationalists and Unionists). The Nationalists are unanimously hostile."

ROERICH FINGER PRINT SYSTEM

Former Local Letter Carrier, After Ten Years' Work, Gets His System Adopted by Many Concerns—Now at Bayonne, N. J.

"After ten years of hard work, during which time he became an expert in the finger print system of identification, H. C. Roerich, a letter carrier in Bayonne, N. J., has finally realized his dream of having the system he invented adopted by the great detective agencies and mercantile houses of the United States, and saw a gigantic corporation formed which is boosting the child of his dream," says a Bayonne newspaper in a column article in a recent issue. Mr. Roerich is well known in Kingston and was employed by the local post office department as a letter carrier. About six years ago, he was transferred at his request to Bayonne, N. J., where he was in the employ of the postal service as a letter carrier. He has now resigned from the Bayonne postal office to become general manager of the Bander Identification Bureau, with offices in New York and Chicago.

The Bayonne newspaper states that Mr. Roerich gave a demonstration to one of the staff of his newly invented method of taking finger prints, the whole operation taking but thirty seconds. He uses an inkless method. Mr. Roerich in talking to the press representative said that William A. Pinkerton, Fred S. Quackenbush, superintendent of the bureau of identification of the city of Detroit, and C. C. Healy, superintendent of the Chicago police, and many others, have pronounced his system the best ever.

"I worked ten years in perfecting this method, and I have eight basic patents on the various operations," he is quoted as saying. His system is now being used by the U. S. Bureau of Immigration at Ellis Island, by the Bureau of Supply and Equipment at Washington, D. C., by the department of police of Chicago, Rochester, Minneapolis and by Major Pullman of the Washington, D. C. police, and a number of detective agencies and police departments.

Orders for 8,000 outfits have been received by the new concern from the naval department of the United States. The outfit is so small it can be carried in one's pocket. Mr. Roerich's many friends in Kingston wish him success in his new field of work.

Origin of "Apple."

It is difficult to determine the specific tree which has been translated from the Hebrew word as "apple." Most modern writers maintain that it was either the quince or the citron. Orange trees are now found in Palestine, but there does not appear sufficient evidence that this tree was known in earlier times to the inhabitants of that land.

The soloist, Mr. Hassler, was heard at the last recital at Redeemer and won the appreciation of every one present. All who have heard Mr. Hassler will remember him as a baritone of rare ability. Hard to make? Not a bit of it. Always-flaky pie crust is the natural result when you use

Presto SELF-RAISING FLOUR

You make it like this: 6 even table-spoons melted lard, 3 table-spoons cold water, 1 cup Presto, pinch of salt. Beat up with spoon, set away until stone cold. Roll out with as little Presto as possible. Enough for one pie.

Don't forget to Presto tomorrow. Recipes in and on every package.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

Waist—2047. Skirt—2043.

Here is a splendid model for afternoon or calling that may also do duty for an evening dress if properly developed. It is composed of Ladies' Waist 2047, and Ladies' Skirt 2043. For combinations of material this style is ideal. The tunic and over-bust portions of the waist could be of embroidered voile or bordered goods. The waist shows the new "wrinkled" or mouchoir collar. The sleeve may be made without the under portion. The Waist Pattern is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42 and 44 inches bust measure. It requires 3 1/2 yards of 36-inch material for a 36-inch size. The Skirt Pattern has 6 sizes: 22, 24, 26, 28, 30 and 32 inches waist measure. It requires 3 yards of 44-inch material for the foundation skirt, and 2 1/2 yards for the tunic for a 24-inch size. The skirt measures about 2 1/2 yards at the foot.

This illustration calls for TWO separate patterns, which will be mailed to any address on receipt of 16 cents EACH pattern in silver or stamps by The Freeman Pattern Department. Be sure to state size wanted.

THE KITCHEN CABINET

Absence of occupation is not rest. A mind quite vacant is a mind distressed. —Cowper.

LAST MINUTE DISHES.

Eggs lend themselves to so many dishes which may be prepared in a hurry that with a few fresh eggs, almost any dinner may be pieced out in a few moments. The omelet, scrambled eggs, golden rod eggs, eggs cooked in cream, and various and sundry others which will occur to the cook are all good emergency dishes.

Corn Pudding.—Mix a cupful of chopped cooked meat with a can of corn, season with salt and pepper, add a cupful of milk and one beaten egg, mix all together and bake ten minutes in a hot oven. Where the time is too short for baking small cakes may be fried in a little hot fat. Or it may be cooked in the form of an omelet. Macaroni with a little left-over chicken and gravy, if reheated, makes a most satisfying dish. Any cooked meat may be used in place of the chicken.

Meat Rice Balls.—Parboil rice, drain, saving the water. Tie the rice up in squares of cheesecloth with a little chopped meat in the center, cook in the rice water until the rice is tender. Remove from the cloths and serve with tomato or brown sauce.

Blanketed Eggs.—Make a rich white sauce and place a spoonful in the bottom of the ramekin, drop in an egg and cover with another spoonful of white sauce well seasoned, place in the oven and bake until the egg is set. From five to ten minutes. Dates, stuffed with nuts, and then rolled in granulated sugar, make a most wholesome dessert.

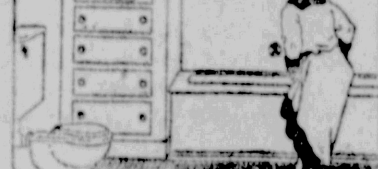

What to Do With Soup Meat.—Soup meat is both nourishing and wholesome, if properly prepared. The delicate extracts which are the appetizing flavors in meat are usually absent in meat that has been treated for soup, but by adding seasonings of various kinds the meat will become again well flavored and palatable. One or two bouillon cubes may be added to a little water and chopped soup meat with seasoning added; this mixed with chopped cold boiled potato makes a good hash if served piping hot. This meat may be used in the rice balls or various other ways will occur to the cook who is thinking about economy.

KINGSTON, N. Y., MAY 18, 1917.

Kingston and its people must face some plain facts with the passage of the conscription bill and the announcement of the forthcoming mobilization of the National Guard. Without considering the demands of recruiting and the mobilizing of the militia, matters which are now being taken up by the authorities who have the power to draft to fill vacancies, it is up to the citizens of Kingston and Ulster County to at once begin the organization of home defense units in earnest. Kingston has no depot company to take the place of Company M when that unit of the Tenth Regiment is ordered to camp. When the Fourteenth Separate Company was ordered out during the Spanish-American War there was a rush of citizens to fill the ranks of the depot company. Now, when conscription is available for completing such organization, it would seem that men would be ready and willing to volunteer their services for this home defense force. We believe that these men are present in sufficient number in this city and ready to answer the call just the same as in '98 when the One Hundred and Fourteenth Company was organized. Designation of an officer to raise such necessary force should be one of the next steps to be taken by the Home Defense Committee. As Captain Meagher says, "It is a time for concrete action," and Kingston has to meet this condition as efficiently and as expeditiously as every other city in the State.

The society women, who have gone out to help the great "middle class" in New York and Long Island, were horrified to find that wholesale and retail grocers were doing their utmost to prevent customers from buying flour by the barrel. Here, the ladies concluded, was evidence of a monopoly on the part of food speculators, indeed. As a matter of fact, the advice of the flour sellers was of the very best. People should not hoard food at this time. They should not buy more than they really need at the time of purchase, as the certain and immediate effect of large purchases and home storing of food is the boosting of prices for others. The man who lays in large supplies of food for himself and his family increases the price for his less fortunate neighbors and, further, the very fact of his having quantities on hand is likely to result in extravagant use, waste and deterioration, three things to be avoided in this emergency. As for flour, it is always cheaper by the sack than by the barrel, as anyone knows who stops to think of the difference in cost between paper and cloth containers as against wood.

Over in Germany, report says, many of the inhabitants are being driven to eat crows and English sparrows. The latter bird would be a palatable tidbit to the German palate if there is anything in the power of a name, but the crow is a bird of another color. We have never eaten crow, save of the post-election variety, but from the testimony of others, the meat of this fowl of the air is coarse and scanty. The sparrow, however, is different. When killed by gunshot, the carcass of a sparrow is usually so mutilated as to be past the efforts of the most skillful chef, but when trapped, it is a different story. Sparrow potpies are pronounced delicious by those who have enjoyed such dainties. In the item from Germany there is a valuable hint on how to cut the high cost of living and at the same time get rid of a feathered nuisance so far as the English sparrow is concerned. As for the crow, he can take his chances with gunners, as crow shooting in some sections is coming to be classed as a sport and a call is used the same as for ducks. John Burroughs thinks the crow a much maligned bird, but just the same, the glossy-feathered robber of the fields has yet to justify claims that he is a friend of the farmer and the enemy of insect pests.

Farmers live long, dying at the highest average of 58.5 years, while office workers die at the average age of 36.5 years, according to statistics of the Department of Labor. "Who would not be a farmer, if he could change his occupation?" asks a commenting editor, referring to this advantage of longevity and the other advantages, including the high price of farm products. Such editorial enthusiasm might wane after hard digging under a July sun. The man who enjoys strenuous exercise in the open air, who loves to make and to see things grow, may really delight in field work, but farming is no picnic.

LITTLE LAUGHS.
Friend—"I will return your pleasant call." Young author (absent-ly)—"But I have given you no postage!"—Puck.

"Have you a good automobile, Mrs. Cavanaugh?" "Oh, a fine one, but we can't get a chelonyear to suit."—Baltimore American.

"Well, little miss," said the grocer, "what can I do for you?" "Please, sir, mother wants a bottle of good-natured alcohol."—Boston Transcript.

"The paper states that you pleased a big audience at the banquet last night." "The paper is wrong. I did not appear." "Um, I guess the paper is right."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

"You must enjoy hearing your prima donna sing." "I do," replied the impresario. "You don't know what a relief it is to have her get out and throw those high notes around to the audience, instead of yelling at me about her salary."

Not Altogether Wasted.
Margaret Illington, the actress, was a protégée of Mark Twain during the later years of his life, and when on the road used to correspond with him regularly. In one letter she told him she was not feeling well, and he wrote back promptly, advising her to try a new style of magnetic health belt that had just been placed on the market.

Miss Illington took the advice. After using the device for a few days, she wrote him as follows:

"I bought one of those belts, but it did not help me a bit." By wire came this answer: "It helped me. I own stock in the company. Samuel L. Clemens."—Saturday Evening Post.

Apropos.
The landlady of a well-known boarding house always made a point of asking guests to write something in her visitors' book. She was very proud of it—of some of the people whose names were in the volume, and the nice things they said.

But there's one thing I can't understand," the lady confided to a friend, "and that is what an American gentleman put in the book after stopping here. People always smile when they read it."

"What was it?" queried the other.

"He only wrote the words, 'Quoth the raven!'"—Tit-Bits.

A Stern Chase.
Although not over-particular about her work, Mrs. Brown's new maid, fresh from the Evergreen Isle, was somewhat of a stickler for precision in language.

"Is it after 8 yet?" asked Mrs. Brown of her one morning as she came in from the kitchen on some errand.

"Yes, mum," replied Bridget, carefully weighing her words. "It is after it all right, but it hasn't got there yet! It has five minutes yet to travel!"—The Christian Herald.

The BACKYARD FARMER.

By PROF. J. WILLARD BOLTE
(Copyright Western Newspaper Union.)

THE CITY HEN HOUSE.

The hen house for the city or suburban flock of hens must receive more attention than the one used on the farm for several reasons. In the first place, the hens are much more closely confined and the sanitary features must be very carefully considered. There are usually more hens to a given area in the house and yard, hence both must be kept cleaner than larger quarters need be, and if this work is to be done properly the house must be arranged so that the work of cleaning can be done without much inconvenience, or it will not be done.

Again, because of the close proximity of neighbors the house must not only be clean and odorless, but it must possess some degree of artistic fitness, if it is not to be an eyesore to the passerby. It should harmonize with the surrounding buildings or the house to which it belongs, both in style of architecture and color.

If possible the front of the hen house should face the south, so that it will get the full benefit of the sun's rays during the long winter months. Plenty of sunshine upon the floor will do more to keep the flock healthy while they are confined indoors, than any other one thing. The top of the south windows should be as far from the ground as the house is wide, so that the sunlight will reach to the back wall, and the bottom of the south windows should be about three feet from the ground, or high enough so that the chickens cannot look. We do not object to their looking out, as the time they waste in so doing does not interfere with their output, but this wall protects them from direct wind and cold storms from the south.

The walls can best be made of two layers of boards, with a sheathing of building or tar paper between them, but an air space is not necessary. The main thing in the walls is to have them air tight, water proof, and free from harboring places for rats, lice and mites.

The roof may be either single or double pitch, but if it is to pitch toward the south be sure to have an eaves trough there to keep the front of the building dry during the spring months, and the warm days of winter, as here the fowls will congregate, long before the snow has gone from the rest of the yard. Be sure that the roof pitches enough to carry the rain water off rapidly, to prevent rotting of the roof, and do not make the mistake of so many near economical poultrymen, who build their hen house so low that at some point they cannot stand upright while cleaning it. Let me emphasize that again. Never under any circumstances let your roof drop so low at any point in the building that you have to stoop in doing any of your work because of it. Nothing is more aggravating than working in a stooping position in a hot hen house and you will find some of the work unpleasant enough even under the most desirable conditions.

We ordinarily figure that each hen needs eight feet of floor space in the house and at least fifty feet of yard space. This is automatically reduced as the size of the flock and the gross size of the house and yard increased, and your hens can get along with less, even in a small flock, if you keep everything scrupulously clean.

Never have the hen house floor of wood. It is a waste of good wood in the first place, and it harbors rats in the second. Make it of cement with half inch chicken wire or metal lath in it to keep the rats from gnawing through. If you want a solid floor, but a good raised dry dirt floor will serve every purpose. Be sure that it is higher than the surrounding ground to prevent water from running in, and change the top inch or two of dirt once a year for sanitary reasons.

In a small house a droppings platform is necessary, and a good one is a zinc or galvanized pan which is clamped onto brackets and can be removed easily for cleaning and washing. The nest boxes should be dark and they should be removable for cleaning and spraying for vermin. The roosts should be 2 by 4 timbers, and they should be removable.

During the summer there is little need of straw on the floor, but in the winter you should keep it covered with 6 inches of clean, dry oat or wheat straw. Do not use hay, as it gets wet and causes colds.

Had Poor Opinion of the Band.

"Well, well!" surprisingly commented the patient eldren man, as the village brass band tore rapidly past, smashing out tinny strains as they went, "those fellows are pretty nearly on a run! What makes them march so fast?"

"Trying to get away from the music, I guess," replied the landlord of the tavern, who was a pessimistic old chap anyhow.

Slightly Mistaken.

Little Barbara had been to church before, but not on a Sunday, so that choir boys in surplices were a new experience to her.

She gazed with rapt attention. "Well, Babes," said her father, when she returned, "and what did you see?"

"Oh, daddy, it was beautiful! I saw such a lot of little boys, and they were all made out of old vicars."—London Mail.

STREET GOSSIP
ABOUT TOWN

"Well I see where the police have got busy and have caught some auto speeders," said the friend to the street corner politician.

"And I think it a mighty fine idea," replied the politician, "for auto drivers were becoming reckless."

"Do you believe in speed traps?" asked the friend. "I don't think it is hardly square."

"I used to think so too at first," confessed the politician, "until I had given the matter some thought and now I favor them."

"Why?" queried the friend. "Because," explained the politician, "when a speeder is arrested you have to prove the distance he covered and the time it took to cover it."

"I know that," replied the friend.

"Well, the only way the police can swear positively to the speed," continued the politician, "is to have a certain stretch of street marked out and measured and then time the speeder. In that way he is in a position to swear positively the amount of ground covered and the speed in which it was done."

"Well," replied the friend, "now that you explain it it does seem reasonable."

"It is the only way it can be worked out," said the politician, "unless a cop was equipped with a motorcycle. Usually the distance of the speed trap is an eighth of a mile, and it is easy to compute the time it would take for an auto to run a mile at the rate of speed it takes to put the eighth behind them."

"How fast is an auto allowed to run in the city?" queried the friend.

"The ordinance calls for 15 miles an hour," replied the politician, "or a mile in four minutes."

"That seems plenty fast enough at that," commented the friend.

"It is fast enough on a main street like Broadway to my mind," replied the politician, "and then again you will notice that the only speeders arrested are those traveling about 25 or more miles an hour."

"I have noticed that," said the friend.

"Well," continued the politician, "to my mind the police are fair enough in allowing a car to run between 15 and 20 miles an hour without making an arrest."

"Anyway," said the friend, "a few arrests made and the speeders will be more careful."

"You said it then," replied the politician.

"Where does dust come from anyway?" asked the friend suddenly changing the subject.

"What do you mean?" queried the politician.

"You know that if a house is not swept out that dust will gather rapidly," explained the friend, "and the question is where does the dust come from?"

"There are all sorts of dust," replied the politician with a grin. "There is the dust I would like to raise for instance."

"What dust is that?" asked the friend.

"Gold dust," replied the politician.

"We all want that," said the friend, "but what I was getting at is where does dust accumulate from?"

"Take for instance a closed room with the windows and doors tight shut and locked, and yet if the room is not disturbed dust will collect and lay thick on the floor and furniture."

"That is easily explained," replied the politician, "you must remember that air is full of fine particles of dust, so minute in many instances that you can't see it."

"That's like the dust you were talking about," interrupted the friend.

"These particles of dust and dirt," continued the politician, "are so fine that as I have said they are not visible to the naked eye."

"But how is it then we don't breathe them in?" queried the friend.

"Have you forgotten all you learned in school," said the politician disgustedly.

"No, I have not, but shoot along," commented the friend.

"Well anyway," said the politician, "your nose is equipped with hair and it acts as a screen which prevents the dust entering the throat, and that is why you breathe through your nose."

"I breathe through my mouth," interrupted the friend.

"And that is why your brains are dusty," retorted the politician, "but to explain your question this dust filters in through the cracks and keyholes and lies on the floor."

"Yes, I suppose you are right," replied the friend, "but to get back to the last proposition other people breathe through their mouth too."

"That's the reason why so many drunks are arrested," retorted the politician.

"How is that?" asked the friend.

"Their throats get dusty and they want to lay the dust," replied the politician, "and instead of using water they require other refreshment."

"Do you suppose this commission to reduce the saloons in town that the mayor is going to appoint will breathe through their nose too?" asked the friend.

"When you tell me who the committee is I'll let you know," replied the politician.

PABLO CASALS' enchanted rendering of Wagner's beautiful "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser" has a sheer, pure loveliness never yet attained by anyone but Casals on the cello. It has a ravishing glory and sweetness of tone—a human voice sings in the vibrant strings!

Other gems are Kerebey's symphonic tone-picture "In a Monastery Garden," with the calls of nesting birds and the deep-voiced intoning of the "Kyrie Eleison" by a splendid male chorus lending it an unusual interest; then the first (and exclusively Columbia) recording of the world-famed New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the personal direction of Josef Strinsky; and Oscar Seagle's inspired rendering of "The Snowy-Breasted Pearl" and the quaint old "The Ash Grove." Oot Too Big.

A small girl, who like most small girls and indeed boys, hated to be discussed by her elders submitted in silence to the remarks of her aunt as to the thinness of her hair and the advisability of cutting it short to improve the growth. When the aunt had gone she said to her mother, "Mamma, you know Auntie does not need to worry about my hair; it's all right; my head has outgrown it, that's all."

The "Refreshing Draft."

The refreshing draft which Joel offered to Steena "in a lordly dish" (Judges 5:25), was a preparation of milk well known in the East and called leben. The method of preparing it is to boil the milk over a slow fire, adding to it a small quantity of old leben, or some other acid, in order to make it coagulate.

KRIFFLEBUSH MAN WON'T FORGET US

Theron Durham Came to City to Buy Horse and Was Robbed—Meets "Red" and Other Dames—Three Negroes Held for Grand Jury

Theron Durham of Kripplebush had a taste of night life in Rondout which he will not forget in a hurry, and which led to Recorder Lang on Thursday afternoon holding Raymond and Grant Roosa, aged 18 and 20 years, and Cal Snyder, 25 years old, three negroes, for the grand jury, on a charge of holding up and robbing Durham of his roll. Chief Wood represented Durham while Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the negroes.

As has been told in The Freeman at the time Theron came to town last Monday with a roll of about $100 he had accumulated determined to purchase a horse to be used on his farm. Instead he paid a trip to "The Gut" as that part of the city lying between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenues hills is known. In a saloon he had several drinks and treated the crowd. Later events led to him being picked up by Officer Connelly on a charge of public intoxication. He was fined $5 by Recorder Lang at that time and his story was investigated with the result that Sergeant Hanley rounded up the three negroes.

Sergeant Hanley on Monday went to the Roosa home on Gase street and after searching through it found each of the Roosa boys hiding under separate beds. Their story was that they had been told the trunk officer was after them which caused them to hide away. Cal was found working on an express wagon.

According to Theron's story he had met a young "lady" in the saloon and she had agreed to take him out and show him the sights for the small sum of $5, but first he would have to wait until she returned home from the movies.

She then left for the opera house and in the interval Theron met "Red" Riley, who has been in court before, and she said he was foolish to wait for the other young "lady" as she would take him out right away and show him the wonders of Rondout and her work as a guide would only cost $4, or one dollar cheaper than the other young "lady."

At the time "Red" was with her gentleman friend, Jake Steeger, and Red and Jake left the saloon and Theron followed at a distance of about fifty feet.

There he was set upon by the three negroes who stripped him of the remainder of his roll. At least that was his contention.

Red and Jake did not wish to be drawn into trouble and hastened onward not stopping to see what happened to Theron.

The three negroes denied they had robbed Theron, and did not know what they had been arrested for until they had been told after they were arrested.

The hearing lasted until after 6 o'clock and at the close Recorder Lang took the action stated and remanded the three negroes to jail.

SISTERS UNITED AFTER 15 YEARS

Former Kingston Residents Lost Track of One Another and Lillian Walker Kept Her Name Out of Albany Directory.

A 15 years' search by relatives and friends of Lillian Walker was brought to a successful close Thursday in Albany when Detectives Bannan and Ryan located the young woman at 96 1/2 Lancaster street. Although there were three Lillian Walkers listed in the Albany directory, investigation by the detectives proved that none was the person for whom they were looking. After the detectives had located the right Miss Walker, they asked her how it was her name was not in the directory, and she replied that she "had always managed to stay out of it." Miss Walker's relatives have been notified.

About two weeks ago Captain Lash received a letter from Mrs. James Williams of Clifton, N. J., stating that she had reason to believe that her sister, Lillian Walker, for whom they had been searching for 15 years, was a resident of Albany. Detectives Bannan and Ryan were immediately assigned to the case.

In her letter Mrs. Williams stated that she and her sister, Lillian, at one time lived with their parents at Kingston. After the death of one parent, Mrs. Williams said that she and her sister were placed in a home at Kingston, but that "one night Lillian escaped and nothing had ever been heard from her since." At that time she was 9 years old.

When questioned by the detectives, Miss Walker said that she had been in nearly all of the eastern states since escaping from the Kingston home, and that she came to Albany about five years ago. For a time she was employed in St. Agnes' home and later she worked for a doctor on Hudson avenue. Miss Walker told the detectives that she thought her sister was dead.

Recruit for Naval Militia.

Because the Poughkeepsie naval recruiting district, which comprises Kingston, Middletown, Port Jervis, Monticello, Newburgh and Haverstraw, to date has averaged only two enlistments a week, New York headquarters will send a recruiting force through the district today under command of Lieut. E. C. McKinney. The men will go by automobile and will use every means within their power to wake up the district to the needs of the first line of defense.

RED CROSS WORK IN ULSTER COUNTY

History of Local Chapter From Its Inception Down to Present Day Activity in Preparing for War—Fight on Tuberculosis and Other Relief Measures.

Having been the originator of the movement which gave to Ulster county its Red Cross organization, now so efficiently active, and having also been officially connected with the organization since its inauguration, Mrs. C. N. Reed has prepared the following brief history of the chapter. This history will doubtless hold the double interest of the community in that the organization workers and members will be glad to know that they belong to a Red Cross Chapter with a worth while past as well as present, and in that Mrs. Reed is giving this resume of the chapter's work as her parting contribution to the chapter after nine years of the most disinterested service in the chapter.

Following the lead of Denmark, which some twelve years ago began the Red Cross Christmas stamp sale for the raising of funds for tuberculosis prevention and cure, the little state of Delaware in 1907 undertook such a sale with excellent results. Reading of this effort, and being deeply desirous of doing whatever could be done to fight this awful scourge in this county, Mrs. Reed wrote to the National Red Cross asking for information regarding the carrying on of such a stamp campaign here, for the undertaking of tuberculosis work. She was informed that a Red Cross chapter of at least 12 members must be formed in order to have the right to sell the stamps. There was considerable local discouragement of the plan, less it overlap some tentative tuberculosis work then in the hands of another group of people. Finally this difficulty was overcome, and on the evening of November 30, 1908, the first Red Cross meeting was held at the M. M. C. A. The late Monsignor R. L. Burtisell was chosen as temporary chairman and Mrs. Reed as temporary secretary. The plan of operating the Christmas stamp sale was explained as was the other objects of the Red Cross in times of both peace and war, and it was moved that a chapter be organized.

List of Charter Members.

The charter members were Dr. Mary Gage-Day, Dr. L. K. Stelle, Rev. C. M. Hall, Dr. J. R. Nelson, Dr. A. A. Stern, Miss Marion Hibbard, Dr. Mark O'Meara, Miss Grace Masten, Mrs. J. L. Shurter, Rev. J. G. Van Slyke, Mrs. J. G. Van Slyke, Rev. Dr. Burtisell, Dr. A. H. Mambert, Miss Beulah Smith, Rev. C. G. Ellis, Dr. Frank Keator, Dr. Thomas Keator, Rev. Charles Bence Hall, William F. Rose, Mrs. John N. Cordie, Mrs. Rose Kingsley, Emergency relief and tuberculosis committee, Dr. E. E. Norwood, Dr. Mark O'Meara, Dr. A. A. Stern, Dr. J. L. Preston, Dr. A. C. Gates, Dr. L. K. Stelle, Dr. Daniel Connelly. At this meeting 31 additional members were received.

Christmas Stamp Sale.

One of the most interesting features of this meeting was the secretary's account of the opening of the Christmas stamp sale. 50,000 stamps had been ordered, and awaiting their arrival the city and county had been pretty well organized for undertaking the sale. Everywhere the greatest interest was shown, the city and county newspapers giving the widest possible space. The principals of the schools, the Ulster County Medical Society, the pastors of all the churches had also been interested. Sale stations had been arranged at each of the post offices, and in many stores. The stamps were received at Mrs. Reed's home, which for two years was headquarters for this activity, on a Saturday morning a little after 9 o'clock. That day over 27,000 stamps were distributed from Mrs. Reed's home, those assisting in this pioneer work being Mrs. J. C. Norton, who in spite of her more than eighty years, put many of the younger workers to shame; Miss Edna Smith, Miss Katharine Van Keuren, Miss Mabel Thompson, Mrs. E. E. Norwood, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Becker, Mrs. C. F. Ten Broeck, Mrs. J. G. Van Slyke, Miss Isabelle McKown, Henry McKown, Miss Dorothy Applegate, Tertius Applegate, St. Clair Boothie and Ralph Merritt. Stamps that year, late though the sale started—less than a month before Christmas—were put on sale in 140 places, all of which were provided with necessary posters or other advertising material, and as a result nearly $500 were cleared with which to begin the fight against tuberculosis. This sum was promptly turned over to the emergency relief and tuberculosis committee.

Aided 'Quake Sufferers.

At a meeting early in February, 1909, it was reported that the sum of $950 had been received and sent through the local Red Cross for the Messina (Italy) earthquake sufferers. This meeting also marked the actual beginning of the tuberculosis work, for it was voted to secure a special tuberculosis visiting nurse. At that time the Benedictine Sanitarium had a senior nurse who had had three months' special training in this field of nursing at St. Luke's Hospital, New York city, and the sanitarium offered the services of this nurse, the Red Cross committee to pay what they could and the sanitarium to make up any deficit. It was voted to accept this fine offer for six months, the committee to pay $200 as its share and during the following month, Miss Anna O'Shea, now special tuberculosis nurse employed by the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis, assumed her duties as tuberculosis visiting nurse. In addition to actual nursing, Miss O'Shea waged a splendid educational warfare. A membership committee had also been appointed with J. E. Mahar as chairman.

The accomplishments and discoveries of the visiting nurse made evident the needs of a tuberculosis hospital and Dr. O'Meara was made chairman of a committee to investigate the matter. Again the Benedictine Sanitarium came to the rescue, offering nurses and supplies.

The death of the treasurer, Mr. Burhans, occurred in October of 1909, and Harry Ensign was chosen to fill out the unexpired term of office. He was succeeded by Joseph M. Schaeffer, still in office. At that time the membership of the Ulster County Red Cross had climbed to a total of 229 members, and that without particular solicitation, doubtless due to the general interest in the tuberculosis movement back of the organization. The final report on the Messina disaster showed $988.97 sent out through this chapter. Furthermore $13 and 3 large boxes of clothing were sent to flood sufferers in Mexico and the south.

For Tuberculosis Camp.

It had by this time been decided to undertake the erection of a tuberculosis hospital or camp, and the chapter at once contributed from its treasury $25 to the building fund. The proceeds of the 1909-10 stamp fund were to be turned over to the Ulster County Committee on the Prevention of Tuberculosis and again Mrs. Reed was made chairman of the sale.

This sale netted about $900 for the tuberculosis work, and when later, the State Charities Aid Association came to Kingston to inaugurate the anti tuberculosis campaign, they expressed the opinion that the work already done by the Red Cross had so fully prepared the soil for their planting that much speedier results would be obtained than in those communities not already thus organized. As it was, Ulster county had the first county tuberculosis hospital in the State of New York.

Officers Chosen in 1910.

At the annual meeting held in October, 1910, the chairman and treasurer were re-elected and Miss Grace E. Jansen was chosen secretary and W. F. Hoehn vice-chairman. The honorary vice-chairmen were the Rev. Dr. R. L. Burtisell, the Rev. Dr. J. G. Van Slyke, S. D. Coykendall, the Rev. Charles M. Hall, Theodore Elink of Katrine, the Rev. Charles G. Ellis, I. N. Weiner, Mayor Irwin and John Forsyth. In November of the same year, $52 was sent to the Paris flood sufferers, through the Ulster County Red Cross, and $25 was contributed from the local treasury toward the visiting nurse fund. The following June, the Red Cross through its appointed committee, Dr. A. S. Vrooman, chairman, made a brave effort to secure for the city, cleaner milk, but little was accomplished owing to lack of trained inspectors, etc.

At the annual meeting in 1911, there was another change in the executive body, Mrs. Mark O'Meara being chosen secretary and the Rev. J. L. Leeper and Rear Admiral Higginson being appointed as honorary vice-chairman. During this year, $25 from the chapter and $317 from contributions, making a total of $342 was sent to the Chinese Famine Fund and $25 was subscribed from the local treasury toward the Y. M. C. A. Building Fund.

In October, 1913 the only change in the official staff of the chapter was the election of Mrs. W. N. Fessenden to succeed Mrs. Mark O'Meara as secretary. This proved to be one of the busiest years of the chapter's history. First there came the appeal for the Balkan Relief Fund, and $28 was sent out in response to the call. Then in the spring, occurred the frightfully devastating Ohio flood, calling for aid from every quarter.

The use of St. John's parish house was granted the chapter, for the receiving of clothing, and the morning following the first publication of the appeal, excellent clothing was brought to the parish house in ever increasing and gratifying quantities. At the same time money began to pour in to the treasurer for this relief work. During the week that followed, the packing continued daily at the parish house, resulting in the sending to the flood sufferers, 19 large packing cases of excellent, warm clothing. There were in all some 150 contributors of this clothing, and in the assorting and packing of this large number of garments, shoes, etc., the chairman was assisted by many willing workers. The money contributions were as generous and gratifying as those of clothing, the sum total being $2,215.62, the chapter contributing from its treasury, $50.

At the close of the second year of the Christmas Stamp Sale a small portion of the proceeds was retained by the chapter, as a special stamp fund, and from that is drawn annually, contributions to the Christmas sale each year. This has been made possible as the money was originally put at interest in the Kingston Savings Bank.

Up to this time, the local Red Cross had been called upon to undertake only what is technically de-dertake only what is technically designed as "civilian" relief, that is the responding to any call of need arising from natural catastrophe, famine, flood or other disaster.

First "Military" Relief.

In August of 1914, the chapter had occasion to learn somewhat of the "military" relief work which it might be called upon to take up. The head of the Atlantic Division visited Kingston and issued a special call for the European War Relief Fund, the formation of auxiliaries in the county, etc. Ever instantly obedient to orders the call was issued, and $1,181.14 was sent to this war fund. But as yet there was no awakening to the needs of the time sufficiently urgent to result in the auxiliary movement. In addition to the War Relief Fund, there was, however, the sum of $55.50 raised for the Japanese Relief Fund.

It will be seen from the foregoing that Red Cross members and contributors in this country have claim in money invested in many a foreign land and many sections of their own country, by virtue of contributions which have been sent out by the chapter. At the annual election of officers in 1914, Miss Mabel Thompson was elected vice chairman and Sylvanus Van Aken of Port Ewen and the Rev. J. J. Hickey were chosen honorary vice chairmen. Then came the calm that preceded the storm, in that the only activity noted by the secretary for the year, and that a year of world war, was the forwarding of $62.90 to the War Relief Fund, and of $23 for Mexican Relief.

At the annual meeting in 1915, F. R. Powley was chosen vice-chairman, the other officers remaining the same.

It was not until July, 1916, that the local Red Cross became actively engaged in war relief, both civilian and military in character.

Splendid Work Done.

In July of last year, the call came for the formation of the two special committees, the civilian relief committee and the military relief committee; the former to have care of the dependent families of local militiamen and the latter to provide material needs and funds for the special comfort and aid of the local military company. Mrs. George Chandler was made chairman of the civilian relief committee, and so efficiently did this committee carry out the task assigned to it that 23 families were cared for, not in luxury, but economically, not parsimoniously, so that out of the $778.47 contributed by this work, $699 was expended before the Company M men came home. This left a balance of $178.47 to the credit of the committee. When the Company M relief committee was formed in the city this winter, taking up the same line of work as that formerly done by the Red Cross, the balance of the funds was turned over by Mrs. Chandler to the new committee. While this committee was so busy, the military relief committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Meagher, was equally busy, and collected many contributions of actually needed articles and those which might come under the head of luxuries or comforts, at the armory. These were forwarded to the Company M men. Then the nice sum of $309.41 was raised for the military relief fund, and of that sum $255.55 was paid out through Mrs. Meagher for the soldier's needs. There is now, deposited at the Kingston Savings Bank, the balance, $53.86, subject to the requisition of Mrs. Meagher, for specific military needs.

War Entails a Burden.

With the severance of friendly relations with Germany, came a call from Washington for more strenuous work on the part of the Red Cross. It was shown that an enormous increased membership was needed;

large sums of money with which to purchase supplies; great numbers of ready-for-use hospital supplies, etc. The Ulster County Chapter promptly responded to this call and as a result, the membership in the entire county, as given on May 9, was about 1,850, some 600 of that number being Kingston members, showing what excellent work has been accomplished by the membership committee, under the chairmanship of Mrs. Gordon Reel. There are now nine large auxiliaries in Ellenville, Saugerties, New Paltz, Highland, Milton, the town of Rochester, Marlborough, High Falls, Woodstock, with others waiting to be formed. In this work the secretary, Mrs. W. N. Fessenden, has given valuable aid, in addition to her ever increasing and well high overhauled duties as secretary. The various committees looking after the making of hospital supplies—Miss Jessie Oughellette of the hospital garments committee, Mrs. C. E. Ellis, O'Meara of the surgical dressings committee, Mrs. Philip Elting of the D. A. R. Chapter House workers' committee, Mrs. C. G. Ellis, chairman of the downtown women workers' committee—report an astonishingly large number of hospital garments such as flannelette pajamas and bed shirts, nightgowns, bed socks and hot water and ice bag covers and surgical dressings of every sort already completed with many more nearing completion. The auxiliary have done equally good work along this line. The purchasing of all the supplies has been a responsible task and one which has required considerable money. Mrs. C. E. Hasbrouck with Mrs. Fred Slauson for the county have been most efficient in the purchasing of these supplies, with the money contributed voluntarily and through the efforts of the finance committee, J. E. Mahar, chairman. The sums thus contributed amount to about $470.

Service by Officers.

Special mention should be made of the faithful and efficient service rendered the chapter and the National Red Cross by the treasurer, Joseph M. Schaeffer. So well has Mr. Schaeffer arranged the entire financial scheme of operation for the chapter, and so accurately and clearly has it been carried out, that when the various chapters were asked recently to secure an expert accountant to go over the books, the authorities from Washington expressed themselves by letter quite satisfied with Mr. Schaeffer's work.

Another active and interested worker for the chapter, a member of the executive committee, Sylvanus Van Aken, of Port Ewen, looks with zealous care after the Red Cross interests in that village. Another branch of work being successfully carried on is the first aid work, Dr. E. D. B. Loughran and Miss Edna Smith, Red Cross nurse, being chairman of this committee. There are three classes in home hygiene, under Miss Edith Lammpan of Port Ewen, Red Cross nurse, and two in first aid, under Dr. Ebba Dederer, Dr. E. E. Norwood and Dr. Mark O'Meara of the hospital committee have reported that arrangements have been made at both the Kingston City Hospital and the Benedictine Sanitarium, for the erection of tents, etc., in case of an emergency call.

Special mention should be made in this history of the generous donation by Mrs. Charles M. Preston of the room in the building, No. 240 Fair street, which for several weeks has been and still is used as Red Cross headquarters. This has been, ever since it was opened, one of the busiest places in town. It is in charge of Miss Ruth Smith, who receives compensation for her work, but who cheerfully does much that is beyond the price of money to pay for the good of the cause.

This brings the history of the chapter down to May 9, 1917, on which day Mrs. Reed's resignation, because of force of circumstances, was accepted, and Judge G. D. B.

Hasbrouck was unanimously elected chairman of the Ulster County Red Cross.

ARMORED VESSELS

How the Great Steel Plates That Protect Them Are Made.

A SEVERE TEST OF SKILL.

The Various Processes That Produce the Conflicting Properties Necessary in These Modern Projectile Resisting Warship Jackets.

Only armored warships could live in a naval battle with modern big gun projectiles in use, and hence the making of armor plate has become a science. The manufacture of armor plate has developed considerably in recent years, and in no branch of the steel industry is there greater opportunity for engineering and mechanical skill, coupled with metallurgical knowledge, than in the operations of forging and rolling, followed by the exact heat treatment essential to produce the almost conflicting properties necessary in modern armor.

The plate must be hard, glass hard, to resist penetration by heavy projectiles moving at tremendous velocities, yet tough and fibrous enough to take up the momentum without cracking or distortion. Mechanically, then, the plate must have an extremely hard surface and a fibrous backing. These requirements were attained in part by the old compound armor. Molten steel was poured on to a wrought iron plate and cooled. The slab was then reheated, forged and rolled to the required dimensions. If the operations were successfully carried out the line of demarcation was scarcely visible.

Recently a modification of this process was introduced to cheapen and render less tedious the production of armor. A layer of hard steel was poured into a cooled mold, the underside quickly setting. On the still fluid or pasty surface a thick layer of soft steel was poured. By careful manipulation the union of the surfaces was almost complete, and it was impossible to detect the break in composition on viewing the fractured section. This method of manufacture was undoubtedly an improvement on the old compound method.

The increasing size, velocity and hardness of modern armor piercing projectiles have necessitated the introduction of the modern armor. The process of manufacture essentially consists in case hardening to a depth of about two inches the surface of a homogeneous tough nickel chrome steel. Special air or self hardening nickel and more complex steels are used for lighter armor, gun shields and cast armored structures.

The steel is made in Siemens furnaces and carefully cast into ingots up to eighty tons in weight. These ingots are then slabbled under powerful hydraulic presses (18,000 tons) or rolled direct to the required dimensions, depending on the power of the mills and appliances. During the rolling operation, which lasts about an hour, the slab is reversed and inverted to attain uniformity of working, and scale is removed by wood fagots and water jets. After rolling the plate is usually quenched.

The next operation is that of case-hardening, and in this two plates are put face to face, separated by a layer of the carburizing reagent if it be solid, or if gaseous hydrocarbons be used the plates are slightly separated, to allow free passage for the hardening gases, by bricks arranged in rows. The plates are maintained at redness in a car furnace for three weeks and withdrawn after the hardening carbon has penetrated to the required depth. The plates are thus carburized and so made capable of being hardened, but they are not yet actually hard. At this stage all holes are drilled and plugged, and any bending or machining necessary is carried out.

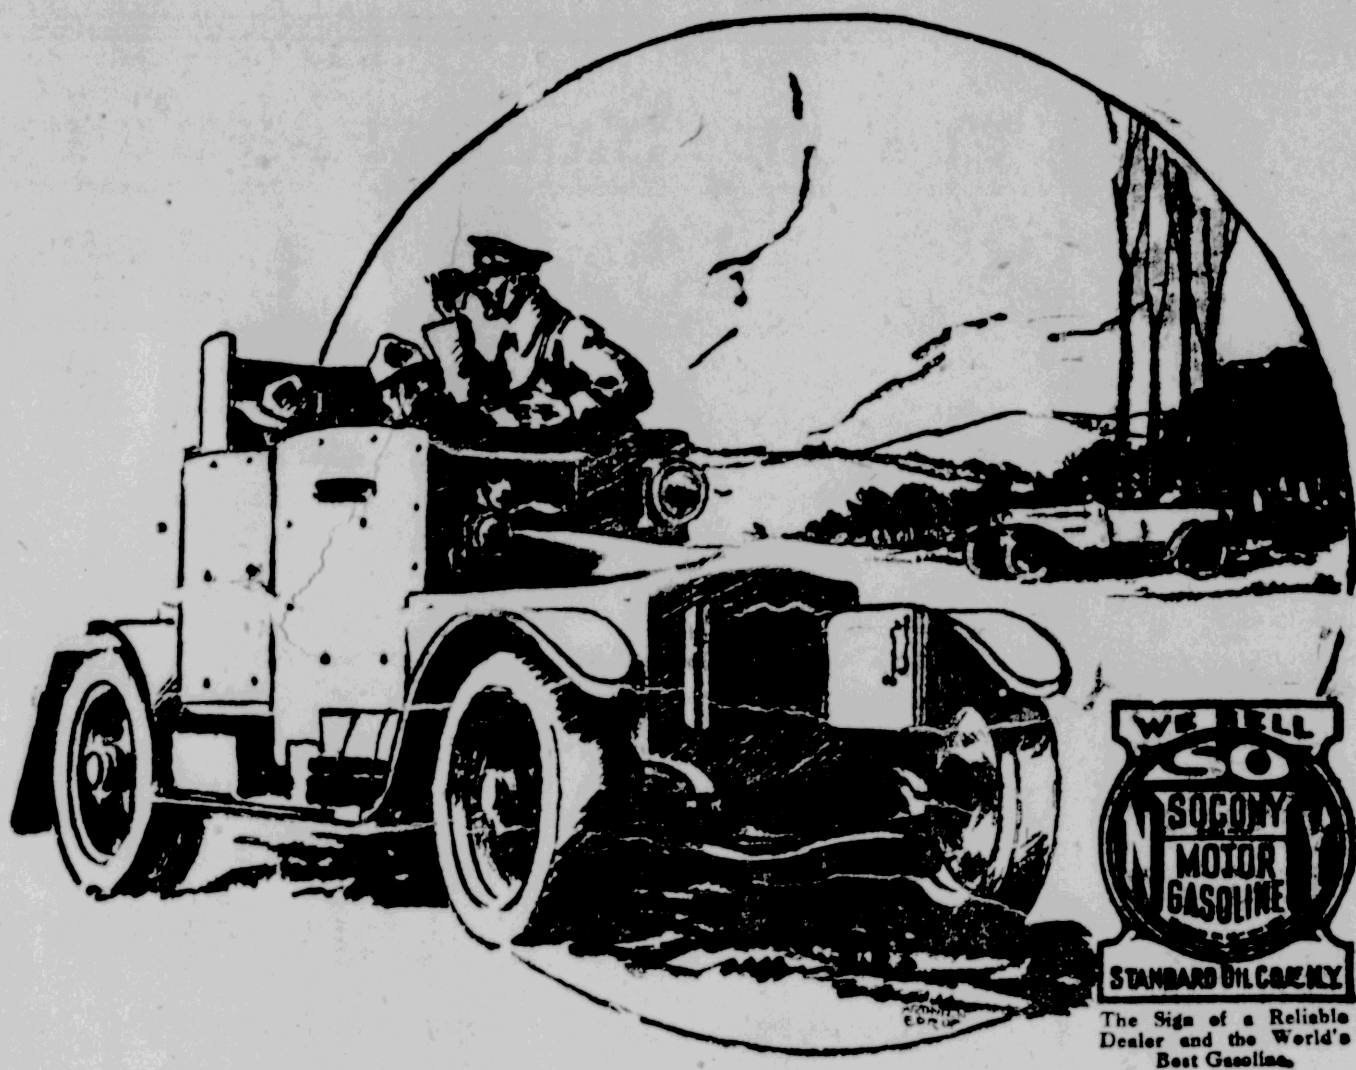

From this point onward the treatments differ. Some makers insist on heating and quenching in oil or water to remove any coarse structure that may have been formed during the long annealing while carburizing. The next essential operation is that of hardening, and this is usually carried out in one of two ways. Either the plate is uniformly heated to the hardening temperature and quenched by a series of water jets playing on the upper surface with sufficient force to prevent the formation of steam or by a process known as "differential quenching," by which the carburized surface is heated to a temperature from which it will harden and the under side kept well below, so attaining a gradual fall in temperature from the top to the bottom. The whole plate is then immersed in water, the hotter surface alone being hardened, while the back is toughened. Further mechanical operations can be carried out only by grinding or cutting with oxyacetylene, as the plate has now undergone the treatment conferring maximum hardness.

In resume, it will be noted that there are three distinct operations in modern methods of manufacture—the mechanical working of the plate to the required dimensions, the carburization of the surface, quenching the carburized surface to harden it. These operations call for exact manipulation, supervision and control, for the skill of the engineer and metallurgist may be put to the severest tests, not of the laboratory or the testing machine, but out in the "gray mists," when failure of a unit may imperil the safety and cohesion of the whole.—Chambers' Journal.

A MIXUP IN NORTH RONDOUT CALF DEAL

Abram Basch Agreed to Buy Calf of
Anthony Brudnock for $14—
Brudnock Sold Calf to Another—
Court Action Follows.

An interesting story was brought to light in city court this morning when Recorder Lang sitting as city judge called the case of Abram Basch against Anthony Brudnock, who is Polish and speaks broken English had been brought to court on a summons secured by Basch, and did not know what he was brought to court for.

Mrs. Brudnock was also present in court, but she was unable to speak any English at all, and was accompanied by a neighbor woman who explained what she knew of the case.

From the story told by the neighbor the Brudnocks owned a calf. One day Mr. Basch drove out to North Rondout and made a deal with Brudnock to purchase the latter's calf and agreed to pay $14 for the animal. He said that he would come around on a Sunday morning early and get the calf.

Sunday arrived, but Mr. Basch did not, and as the day slipped by Mrs. Brudnock sold the calf to another man for $16, or $2 more than Basch had offered. Sunday afternoon about 6 o'clock Basch showed up at the Brudnock home and demanded the calf he had bought and threw the purchase price, $14, on the table.

The neighbor said that Mrs. Brudnock had told Mr. Basch she had sold the calf and was not the owner any more, but that Mr. Basch went out leaving the $14 on the table and refused to take it back saying he wanted the calf he had bought.

The neighbor said that Mrs. Brudnock had not been paid a deposit on the calf by Basch and as he did not call for it when he said he would she had gone ahead and sold it to another.

Both the neighbor and the Brudnocks, it was plainly evident, had never been in court before and Mrs. Brudnock laid the $14 down that Basch had left at the house on the judge's bench and was of the impression that as long as she returned Basch's money that was all there was to it.

Mr. Basch is suing the Brudnocks for $25. This amount included the $14 he had left with them as the purchase price for the calf and the difference is what he claims to have lost by not having the calf delivered to him. He claims he could have made a sale of the calf for the amount sued for.

Milton O. Auchmoody appeared for Basch.

Recorder Lang after hearing the Brudnocks' story as related by the neighbor woman advised her to tell the Brudnocks that he would adjourn the case for one week to give them a chance to consult a lawyer.

LEADING STOCKS IN GOOD DEMAND

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, May 18.—The most important feature of the trading in the stock market today was the continued good demand for all the leading issues. There was heavy trading in Steel Common, which made a gain of 3/4 to 122 1/2 followed by reaction to 122 1/4. Westinghouse was one of the prominent issues, being in brisk demand, and advancing 1 1/4 to 53, and gains of one point were made in minor steel issues, including Lackawanna Steel, Midvale Steel and Colorado Fuel. Pittsburgh Coal was another strong feature and advanced 1 point to 47 1/2. The copper stocks showed an improved tone with American Smelting advancing 3/4 to 103 1/2, and Anaconda moving up 3/4 to 81. The motor stocks were weak. Studebaker, which sold ex-dividend, selling at 83, a net loss of 2 1/2, and General Motors dropped 2 1/2 to 102 1/4.

PABLO CASALS' enchanted rendering of Wagner's beautiful "Evening Star" from "Tannhäuser" has a sheer, pure loveliness never yet attained by anyone but Casals on the cello. It has a ravishing glory and sweetness of tone—a human voice sings in the vibrant strings!

Other gems are Ketelbey's symphonic tone-picture "In a Monastery Garden," with the calls of nesting birds and the deep-voiced intoning of the "Kyrie Eleison" by a splendid male chorus lending it an unusual interest; then the first (and exclusively Columbia) recording of the world-famed New York Philharmonic Orchestra under the personal direction of Josef Stransky; and Oscar Seagle's inspired rendering of "The Snowy-Breasted Pearl" and the quaint old "The Ash Grove." STREET GOSSIP ABOUT TOWN

"Well I see where the police have got busy and have caught some auto speeders," said the friend to the street corner politician.

"And I think it a mighty fine idea," replied the politician, "for auto drivers were becoming reckless."

"Do you believe in speed traps?" asked the friend. "I don't think it is hardly square."

"I used to think so too at first," confessed the politician, "until I had given the matter some thought and now I favor them."

"Why?" queried the friend. "Because," explained the politician, "when a speeder is arrested you have to prove the distance he covered and the time it took to cover it."

"I know that," replied the friend. "Well, the only way the police can swear positively to the speed," continued the politician, "is to have a certain stretch of street marked out and measured and then time the speeder. In that way he is in a position to swear positively the amount of ground covered and the speed in which it was done."

"Well," replied the friend, "now that you explain it it does seem reasonable."

"It is the only way it can be worked out," said the politician, "unless a cop was equipped with a motorcycle. Usually the distance of the speed trap is an eighth of a mile, and it is easy to compute the time it would take for an auto to run a mile at the rate of speed it takes to put the eighth behind them."

"How fast is an auto allowed to run in the city?" queried the friend. "The ordinance calls for 15 miles an hour," replied the politician, "or a mile in four minutes."

"That seems plenty fast enough at that," commented the friend. "It is fast enough on a main street like Broadway to my mind," replied the politician, "and then again you will notice that the only speeders arrested are those traveling about 25 or more miles an hour."

"I have noticed that," said the friend. "Well," continued the politician, "in my mind the police are fair enough in allowing a car to run between 15 and 20 miles an hour without making an arrest."

"Anyway," said the friend, "a few arrests made and the speeders will be more careful."

"You said it then," replied the politician.

"Where does dust come from anyway?" asked the friend suddenly changing the subject.

"What do you mean?" queried the politician.

"You know that if a house is not swept out that dust will gather rapidly," explained the friend, "and the question is where does the dust come from?"

"There are all sorts of dust," replied the politician with a grin. "There is the dust I would like to raise for instance."

"What dust is that?" asked the friend.

"Gold dust," replied the politician.

"We all want that," said the friend, "but what I was getting at is where does dust accumulate from? Take for instance a closed room with the windows and doors tight shut and locked, and yet if the room is not disturbed dust will collect and lay thick on the floor and furniture."

"That is easily explained," replied the politician. "You must remember that air is full of fine particles of dust, so minute in many instances that you can't see it."

"That's like the dust you were talking about," interrupted the friend.

"These particles of dust and dirt," continued the politician, "are so fine that as I have said they are not visible to the naked eye."

"But how is it then we don't breathe them in?" queried the friend.

"Have you forgotten all you learned in school," said the politician disgustedly.

"No, I have not, but shoot along," commented the friend.

"Well anyway," said the politician, "your nose is equipped with hairs and it acts as a screen which prevents the dust entering the throat, and that is why you breathe through your nose."

"I breathe through my mouth," interrupted the friend.

"And that is why your brains are dusty," retorted the politician, "but to explain your question this dust filters in through the cracks and keyholes and lies on the floor."

"Yes, I suppose you are right," replied the friend, "but to get back to the last proposition other people breathe through their mouth too."

"That's the reason why so many grunks are arrested," retorted the politician.

"How is that?" asked the friend.

"Their throats get dusty and they want to lay the dust," replied the politician, "and instead of using water they require other refreshment."

"Do you suppose this commission to reduce the saloons in town that the mayor is going to appoint will breathe through their nose too?" asked the friend.

"When you tell me who the commission is I'll let you know," replied the politician.

Got Too Big.

A small girl, who like most small girls and indeed boys, hated to be discussed by her elders submitted in silence to the remarks of her aunt as to the thickness of her hair and the advisability of cutting it short to improve the growth. When the aunt had gone she said to her mother, "Mamma, you know Anny does not need to worry about my hair; it's all right; my head has outgrown it, that's all."

The "Refreshing Draft"

The refreshing draft which Joel offered to Siera "in a lordly dish" (Judges 5:25) was a preparation of milk well known in the East and called leben. The method of preparing it is to boil the milk over a slow fire, adding to it a small quantity of old leben, or some other acid, in order to make it coagulate.

HICKS ACCUSED OF SKIN THEFT

James Hicks, a carpenter of this city, was caught Thursday evening at the home of a lady friend on Gage street by Officer Connelly. The police have been looking for Hicks for several days past as Jacob Forst of Abel street had sworn out a warrant for Hicks' arrest on a charge of stealing 13 lamb skins from the Forst warehouse on Abel street. These skins Hicks is accused of selling to some Hebrews. One of the Hebrews, Max Kantrowitz, was arrested on May 9, and when arraigned before Recorder Lang that day implicated Hicks who he said had sold him the skins. A warrant was issued but Hicks was out town. The police learned he was in the habit of visiting on Gage street and laid a trap to catch him when he returned to town. This morning at the request of Mr. Forst the case was adjourned for one week and Hicks was admitted to bail in the sum of $500 furnished by Alfred K. Steeger and Charles R. Steeger.

First Communion at St. Joseph's.

Twenty-four little girls and twenty-eight boys received their first holy communion at St. Joseph's Church Thursday morning at the 9 o'clock mass. A large number of friends and parents of the children attended the ceremonies.

In view of the fact that China may be drawn into the world war against the Teutonic Allies, it is interesting to note that the Chinese army is by no means poorly equipped. ARMY BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT

As Finally Passed It Provides for Increased Pay, Conscription Between 21 and 30 and Raising of Volunteers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 18—Some time before night a law conscripting young men of America for military duty will exist on the statute books of the land for the raising of the national army that will carry the stars and stripes to the trenches of Europe. Although the selective draft bill finally agreed upon by the senate and the house after weeks of bitter talk, had not reached the White House at noon, it was expected momentarily and it was learned the president was ready to affix his signature to it as soon as it was received.

Simultaneously with the signing of the bill there was to be issued a proclamation by the president setting a date when all men between 21 and 30 inclusive must register and be subject to the call to the colors.

The Roosevelt amendment authorizing, but not directing, the president to raise four volunteer divisions was in the bill as finally passed, but whether the president will accept Roosevelt's offer to raise one or more divisions by exercising the authority, is still in doubt.

The army bill, which goes to the president today was introduced in the Senate April 19, was passed April 28—in the Senate by a vote of 81 to 8 and in the House by 397 to 24—and has since been tied up in conference, returned there twice by the House to include the Roosevelt volunteer provision and further pay increases for enlisted men. Its chief provisions are:

Raising of armed forces by the selective draft system, imposed on all men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, inclusive, subject to registration and certain exemptions from service.

Increasing the regular army to maximum war strength.

Drafting into the Federal service of National Guard units.

Raising of an initial force by conscription of 500,000 men, with addition of 500,000 if deemed necessary.

Raising, if the president sees fit, of four divisions of volunteer infantry (the Roosevelt amendment.)

Increasing the pay of all enlisted men as follows: $15 additional monthly for those now receiving less than $21, comprising the bulk of the army, graduated downward to $6 additional monthly for those receiving $45 or more.

Prohibiting sale of liquor at or near army training camps and otherwise protecting morals of the soldiers.

The conscription age limits were agreed upon, with much difficulty. The War Department proposed a minimum of nineteen and a maximum of twenty-five. The House voted to fix them at twenty-one to forty and the Senate at from twenty-one to twenty-seven, the compromise of twenty-one to thirty, inclusive, resulting.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP FORT.

Sentry Fires on Men in Auto Near Ordnance Building.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Fort Sheridan, Ill., May 18—That the two unidentified men who escaped from sentries here last night had plotted to blow up the ordnance building, was the belief of officers today.

Both men were lurking near the building when surprised by Private Leo Kaploski of the Ohio Engineers. Kaploski was first apprised of the men's presence when he heard the noise of an automobile engine behind the corner machine. As he turned the corner the machine sped out of sight.

Then Kaploski saw a man trying to hide beneath the porch. He ordered him to halt, but the man began to run. Kaploski fired five times, but failed to hit the stranger.

Urge Naval Recruiting.

A Ford touring car from the naval recruiting station in New York city was in town today distributing placards and posters urging young men to join the United States Navy. Several Kingston men are planning to enlist in the first line defense of the country.

KRIPPLEBUSH MAN WON'T FORGET US

Theron Durham Came to City to Buy Horse and Was Robbed—Meets "Red" and Other Dames—Three Negroes Held for Grand Jury.

Theron Durham of Kripplebush had a taste of night life in Rondout which he will not forget in a hurry, and which led to Recorder Lang on Thursday afternoon holding Raymond and Grant Roosa, aged 18 and 20 years, and Cal Snyder, 25 years old, three negroes, for the grand jury, on a charge of holding up and robbing Durham of his roll. Chief Wood represented Durham while Chris J. Flanagan appeared for the negroes.

As has been told in The Freeman at the time Theron came to town last Monday with a roll of about $100 he had accumulated determined to purchase a horse to be used on his farm. Instead he paid a trip to "The Gut" as that part of the city lying between Broadway and Hasbrouck avenues hills is known. In a saloon he had several drinks and treated the crowd. Later events led to him being picked up by Officer Connolly on a charge of public intoxication. He was fined $5 by Recorder Lang at that time and his story was investigated with the result that Sergeant Hanley rounded up the three negroes.

Sergeant Hanley on Monday went to the Roosa home on Gage street and after searching through it found each of the Roosa boys hiding under separate beds. Their story was that they had been told the tenant officer was after them which caused them to hide away. Cal was found working on an express wagon.

According to Theron's story he had met a young "lady" in the saloon and she had agreed to take him out and show him the sights for the small sum of $5, but first he would have to wait until she returned home from the movies.

She then left for the opera house and in the interval Theron met "Red" Kiley, who has been in court before, and she said he was foolish to wait for the other young "lady" as she would take him out right away and show him the wonders of Rondout and her work as a guide would only cost $4, or one dollar cheaper than the other young "lady."

At the time "Red" was with her gentleman friend, Jake Steeger, and Red and Jake left the saloon and Theron followed at a distance of about fifty feet.

There he was set upon by the three negroes who stripped him of the remainder of his roll. At least that was his contention.

Red and Jake did not wish to be drawn into trouble and hastened onward not stopping to see what happened to Theron.

The three negroes denied they had robbed Theron, and did not know what they had been arrested for until they had been told after they were arrested.

The hearing lasted until after 1 o'clock and at the close Recorder Lang took the action stated and remanded the three negroes to jail.

SISTERS UNITED AFTER 15 YEARS

Former Kingston Residents Lost Track of One Another and Lillian Walker Kept Her Name Out of Albany Directory.

A 15 years' search by relatives and friends of Lillian Walker was brought to a successful close Thursday in Albany when Detective Bannan and Ryan located the young woman at 26 1/2 Lancaster street. Although there were three Lillian Walkers listed in the Albany directory, investigation by the detectives proved that none was the person for whom they were looking. After the detectives had located the right Miss Walker, they asked her how it was her name was not in the directory, and she replied that she "had always managed to stay out of it." Miss Walker's relatives have been notified.

About two weeks ago Captain Lash received a letter from Mrs. James Williams of Clifton, N. J., stating that she had reason to believe that her sister, Lillian Walker, for whom they had been searching for 15 years, was a resident of Albany. Detective Bannan and Ryan were immediately assigned to the case.

In her letter Mrs. Williams stated that she and her sister, Lillian, at one time lived with their parents at Kingston. After the death of one parent, Mrs. Williams said that she and her sister were placed in a home at Kingston, but that "one night Lillian escaped and nothing had ever been heard from her since." At that time she was a young girl.

When questioned by the detectives, Miss Walker said that she had been in nearly all of the eastern states since escaping from the Kingston home, and that she came to Albany about five years ago. For a time she was employed in St. Agnes' home and later she worked for a doctor on Hudson avenue. Miss Walker told the detectives that she thought her sister was dead.

Recruit for Naval Militia.

Because the Toughkeepsie naval recruiting district, which comprises Kingston, Middletown, Port Jervis, Monticello, Newburgh and Haverstraw, to date has averaged only two enlistments a week, New York headquarters will send a recruiting force through the district today under command of Lieut. E. C. McKinney. The men will go by automobile and will use every means within their power to wake up the district to the needs of the first line of defense.

BARBED WIRE IN WAR.

Putting Up and Cutting Down Barriers is Perilous Work.

The erection of war entanglements, even when the trenches are some distance apart, is at all times dangerous.

The men slip over the parapet and in the first place pound in the supports with mallets, the heads of which are carefully wrapped in cloth in order to deaden the sound. Two other men carry the wire drum—a wooden cylinder round which the wire is rolled—by means of a long pole through the center, and a comrade attaches the wires to the supports.

The work is slow and nerve straining, says a writer in the London Graphic, for star shells burst often and compel the men to crouch low and remain motionless until the flare burns out.

To each soldier who takes part in modern warfare thick gloves for gripping wire and strong pliers for cutting it are as essential as the rifle and bayonet.

Before an assault by his own regiment the soldier cuts his own wire, and he must then endeavor as best he may to cut and back his way through the enemy's, pulling down a support here, cutting the wires while the machine gun batteries rap out their message of death toward him.

Thus barbed wire, so simple in itself, so deadly when used in the ways described, enters into every phase of operation in the firing zone.

The Money Changers.
The money changers whom Jesus drove out of the temple were the dealers who supplied half-shekel for such a premium as they might be able to exact from Jews who came from all parts of the world to Jerusalem during the great festivals and were required to pay their tribute or ransom money in Hebrew coin.

An Important Distinction.
"One great difference between a man and a mule," began the affable cynic, "is that a mule is very quiet just before he registers a kick."

ABERNETHY CASE ARGUED THURSDAY

The famous automobile case of Abel B. Abernethy against Adelbert H. Chambers and Kenneth Archer, was argued before the appellate division on Thursday by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly with John M. Caskin of counsel for the plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for the defendants. This is an appeal from two orders of the trial term of Ulster county, one denying plaintiff's motion to treble damages and the other setting aside as to the defendant Chambers the verdict of the jury and granting him a new trial, unless plaintiff filed a stipulation in writing within 15 days from service of said order, reducing the verdict of $75 to $50, which the jury who heard the case awarded Abernethy in an action to recover $150 damages for injuries to Abernethy's automobile. This automobile case was tried before Judge Hasbrouck in supreme court in October of last year.

To Attend Choate Funeral.

Judge Clearwater was designated by Judge Charles Evans Hughes to attend the funeral of Joseph H. Choate, as one of the representatives of the State Bar Association. The judge escorted Mr. Choate from his residence to New Brunswick last October when Rutgers College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. On the way but Mr. Choate said that he had received many degrees from many institutions of learning, but that none of the ceremonies had been characterized by greater dignity, simplicity and impressiveness, and he added—"I always have a comfortable feeling when I am in the company of you Dutchmen. There never is any strain."

FLAGSTAFF RAISED ON ACADEMY GREEN

The staff from which the flag purchased with the Dorothy Freeman Flag Fund will be unfurled on Memorial Day was raised today at noon on the old Kingston Academy green without any set ceremonies. A copper cylinder containing the names of the donors of cash, material and labor was placed in a casket inside a brick vault which was covered with a stone and cemented. This vault is under the flag mast. Brief remarks were made by Mayor Canfield, Griffin A. Hart and the Rev. Father Lange. Others present were Abraham Freeman, Charles A. Warren, W. B. Everett, David Burgevin, C. W. Whitaker, E. B. Miller of Woodland, E. T. Stelle, E. O. Van Aken, Abram Van Aken, William Van Gaasbeek, Henry Greene and Martin Faulkner. The flag staff was supplied by W. G. Johnston.

Fire on Brickyard.

Thursday evening about 11:30 an alarm of fire was rung in from Box 15 to which the firemen responded. A double house on Terry's brickyard, occupied by negro laborers on the yard, was totally destroyed by the flames. Other buildings nearby were saved by the work of the department.

Certificate Filed.

Nicholas and Filomina Brown of Atwood have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that they intend to continue the general grocery and merchandise business at Atwood, formerly conducted by the late James Brown, under the assumed name of James Brown & Brothers.

BOY SCOUTS' AID FOR ENLISTMENTS

Owing to the lack of interest manifested among the youths of Kingston to the call of the navy department for enlistments, there have been to date only four or five such enlistments in Kingston, a special effort is being made by that department to arouse a deeper interest among the youths here. The Boy Scouts have been asked to assist in placarding the city and in other ways to stimulate an interest among the young men eligible for navy service.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the Scouts are asked to meet in C. A. Warren's store on Fair street, for the purpose of having placed before them plans whereby they can be serviceable to the navy department. All the Scouts are requested to report.

DECIDE ROBBINS IS SANE.

Tramp Must Stand Trial for Slaying of Prison Keeper.

District Attorney Alexander of Albany Thursday announced that Had-den Robbins, negro prisoner at the Albany penitentiary, who struck Keeper Francis Campbell a death blow in the penitentiary yard two weeks ago, has been declared sane by the four physicians, including two mental experts, who have examined him. Robbins now faces indictment, and will probably be charged with manslaughter, first degree.

Meantime Robbins will be kept in the penitentiary to serve out his term of six months, to which he was sentenced from Ulster county as a state tramp in January. At the expiration of his sentence he will be rearrested and formally charged with the killing of Campbell.

MANY TO BE HIT BY INCOME TAXES

If the income tax provision in the new federal revenue bill becomes law in its present form income taxes will interest a great many more people, and interest them more deeply, than does the present income tax law. Single men with incomes of $1,000 and married men with incomes of $2,000 are still exempt, but above those figures the tax is levied and rises steadily as the income increases. A married man with an income of $3,000 who now pays no income tax, will have to pay $20, a married man with an income of $4,000 who now pays nothing, will have to pay $40, a married man with an income of $5,000, who now pays $20, will have to pay $80, and if his income is $10,000, he will have to pay $320. From $2,000 to $4,000 he will pay two per cent, from $4,000 to $10,000 he will have to pay four per cent and a surtax of one per cent on all over $5,000. As a revenue measure an income tax is very effective because it is a very hard tax to dodge. As an incentive to taxpayers to take a keener interest in public expenditures, it is likely to stimulate interest in public affairs if the exemption is fixed low enough.

MAN FLIES TRAIN ALONG WALLKILL

Much excitement was caused Wednesday when the 10:47 northbound Wallkill Valley train, carrying the United States mail, was held up about half a mile north of Walden along the outskirts of Crandall's woods. In rounding a sharp curve in the road the engineer saw a man standing in the middle of the tracks, waving his coat above his head as a signal to halt the train.

The emergency brakes were applied and the train stopped. As the brakeman ran ahead to investigate, the man who had signalled the train burst out into a stream of profanity. Believing the man was crazy and getting no satisfactory reason for his action, the engineer continued to run to the Wallkill station. From there word of the incident was "phoned back to Operator Mulligan in Walden, who promptly reported the affair to Chief of Police Renk. Chief Renk secured an auto and hurried to the scene, where he located the man, seated before a fire he had built in the woods.

When questioned he said he was just resting, that his name was T. F. McAndrews and that his home was in Rondout. He is about 30 years old, medium height, and smooth face and wore a blue suit and soft hat. The man said he had stopped the train because he had found two defective ties along the track. The man said he didn't want to see a train wrecked and that because of the trouble in Europe "we don't want to take any chances nowadays." The man told Chief Renk he had been committed to the Middletown State Asylum four years ago in August. He said, also, he was not a railroad man but "had been traveling by water and expected to go back soon."

The tracks and ties were examined and found in good condition. It is believed the man is insane. He is to be arraigned before Justice Wiley and an effort made to verify some of his statements, particularly with reference to his commitment to the asylum.

Dairy Made a Defendant.

Twenty-eight persons who suffered family losses during the typhoid fever epidemic in South Brooklyn and Bay Ridge in 1915, have entered suits for damages aggregating $290,000 against the Ideal Dairy Company of 202 Twentieth street, Brooklyn. The plaintiffs allege they bought the milk with the assurance that it was pasteurized and pure. They claim that it was neither, and that it caused the epidemic. Among the suits is one for $50,000 by Mrs. Hulda Sappia. Her husband died of typhoid and left her with eight children to support.

Highland Estate Sold.

The J. R. Bray estate in Vineyard avenue, Highland, has been sold to New York parties for $13,000. Mr. Bray is the noted cartoonist who made the teddy bear famous, and on this place the first Bray studio was started with only one man drawing, the cartoonist himself. The pictures soon became so popular that five men were employed, and now Mr. Bray is employing between forty and fifty men in his New York studio.

Grange to Buy Building.

Judge Hasbrouck has signed an order granting Huguenot Grange, No. 1,028, P. of H. of New Paltz, the right to purchase the old Walkkill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, property in New Paltz and execute thereon a mortgage to cover a part of the purchase price.

Preparing for Apple Crop.

Harold E. Niver, one of the progressive fruit growers of Ancram, has just purchased from the Canfield Supply Company a very complete power spraying outfit, which is operated by a New Way air cooled engine.

A Thimble for a Mouse Trap.

Put some moist cornmeal in an ordinary thimble. Then put a china bowl, upside down, the edge resting on the large end of the thimble. The mouse will go under the bowl and begin to nibble at the meal, pushing the thimble outward to secure the last bits of meal adhering to the sides. This will cause the bowl to slip down over the mouse.

FRANK B. WILLIS.

FIVE MINUTE TALKS BY NATION.

AL LEADERS.

By Frank B. Willis.

Former Governor of Ohio.

A national nominating convention is an institution typically American not only this, but it personifies better than any other convention or governmental agency the spirit of American life.

The delegates are fresh from the people; they have but recently smelled the smoke of battle in the conflict of ideas which attends the nomination of a candidate of one of the great political parties. The vast majority of these delegates are imbued with the desire to serve their country best by serving their party wisely; they are inspired by the elevating thought that they are for the time being a part of the real government of the country and have a serious responsibility to perform.

Incidentally, it may be said that it will be a sad day for the country when the government usurps the activities that belong to the individual citizens; there comes from the deliberations of a great nominating convention a sense of responsibility and self-sacrificing patriotism which would be blunted and finally killed by the effort to fit these voluntary political activities of the citizen interested in party organization to the procrustean bed of the forms of law. The primary has its proper place in the nomination of county, district and state candidates, but to attempt to extend it to the nomination of candidates for the presidency would tend to kill the national spirit, which in recent years has had but a feeble existence.

A HOSPITAL UNIT
ON SPECIAL TRAIN

Something of what war means was suggested to bystanders at the West Shore station at 3 o'clock this afternoon when a special train of ten coaches bearing a hospital unit went through. The train slowed down passing through Kingston and the Red Cross insignia on the doctors and nurses aboard was plainly seen.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Newburgh people have heard with regret of the death of Miss Pearl R. Hopley, formerly secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, last Saturday in Denver, Colorado, from tuberculosis, in her thirty-seventh year.

Aaron Cohen received word on Thursday of the death of his aunt, Mrs. Morris Elting, who died at New York city. Mrs. Elting was well known in this city, being a sister of Mrs. Cohen, mother of Ralph and Aaron Cohen.

The funeral of Althea E. Barnhardt, widow of Willis Barnhardt, who died at her home on Downs street Thursday, will be held from the late residence, No. 94 Downs street on Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The interment will be in the Union Grove Cemetery.

Corporal William Sachs, company clerk of the machine gun company of the 8th Infantry Regiment of New York city, died Thursday at a Newburgh hospital as the result of injuries sustained on Monday morning, when in the darkness he fell a distance of about 60 feet from the Ontario & Western railroad bridge, near Orr's Mills.

Morgan Turner died at his home in Eddyville on Thursday evening after a long illness. Mr. Turner was one of Eddyville's most respected citizens and for many years he conducted a general store at that place with his father under the firm name of J. I. Turner & Son. Later he conducted a brickyard at Port Ewen. Besides his wife he is survived by two brothers, Harry of Jersey City, and Thomas R. Turner of Brooklyn, and one sister, Mrs. H. J. Hoffman of this city. Mr. Turner was a member of Roundout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held on Sunday, at a Masonic service will be held at the grave in Montpelier Cemetery.

In the death of William U. Mason, at his home, 171 Main street, on Thursday there passed beyond a man long identified with the business, fraternal and religious life of Kingston. A lifelong citizen of Kingston, having been born in this city September 16th, 1835, Mr. Mason had a host of friends, who deeply appreciated his sterling character, his kindness of spirit and gentleness of disposition. Mr. Mason was the son of Lewis A. Mason (Swarts) Mason, and a grandson of Joseph Mason who resided in New York city. He received his education in the Kingston schools and at the Kingston Academy. He commenced his business career when only a lad, in the store of Samuel Frame on North Front street, at the head of Crown street, about where the store of James Kelly is now located. Here he continued in the grocery business with Mr. Frame until 1875, when the exception of two years when he owned and operated a freight barge on the Hudson. In 1875 he went into business at the North Front street store, for himself, and there continued until, in 1885, he built the store on Wall street, where he carried on the grocery business in more commodious quarters and with an ever increasing custom. He was the owner and proprietor of the well known "Mason's Baking Powder," so well known to a host of Ulster county home keepers because of its uniform reliability and purity. He continued the manufacture of this product for some time after he gave up actively the grocery business. On December 18th, 1885, Mr. Mason married Miss Mary E. Krom, who died July 25th, 1914. For many years, Mr. and Mrs. Mason resided on Main street, in the house which was later purchased and in part converted into the Wilkryck Inn, and there, as in their home at No. 171 Main street, Mr. and Mrs. Mason cordially made most welcome, at all times, their many, many friends. In politics, Mr. Mason was a Democrat, and fraternally he was a member of the Exempt Firemen and also of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., which organization will have charge of the funeral services. Mr. Mason was for years an active and always a loyal member of the First Reformed Dutch Church, serving at various times on its Consistory. He was most faithful in attendance and liberal in his support of the church, where the funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. While Mr. Mason had been in failing health for more than a year, he was seriously ill for only a week, and his death came as a shock to his friends. He is survived by his niece, Mrs. Elsa Mason Lord, whose devotion to him has been that of a daughter, and by three nephews, John and Walter Costello of New York city, and Fraser Frame of New York city, and four other nieces, Mrs. Emma Romney, and the Misses Dora, Mary and Bella Costello all of this city. Two cousins also survive him, Mrs. Sarah Lewis and Belmont Whitaker, both of Kingston. One more of Kingston's oldest and most respected citizens has finished his life work, and will leave behind him with those who follow after, a memory of quiet, efficient manhood, ready for

How the Great Steel Plates That Protect Them Are Made.

A SEVERE TEST OF SKILL

Only armored warships could live in a naval battle with modern big gun projectiles in use and hence the making of armor plate has become a science. The manufacture of armor plate has developed considerably in recent years and is a branch of the steel industry. It is there greater opportunity for engineering and mechanical skill coupled with metallurgical knowledge than in the operations of forging and rolling followed by the exact heat treatment essential to produce the almost conflicting properties necessary in modern armor.

The plate must be hard, glass hard to resist penetration by heavy projectiles moving at tremendous velocities yet tough and fibrous enough to take up the momentum without cracking or distortion. Mechanically then the plate must have an extremely hard surface and a fibrous backing. These requirements were attained in part by the old compound armor. Molten steel was poured into a mold of iron plate and cooled. The slab was then reheated, forged and rolled to the required dimensions. If the operations were successfully carried out the line of demarcation was scarcely visible.

Recently a modification of this process was introduced to cheapen and render less tedious the production of armor. A layer of half steel was poured into a mold the under side quickly setting. On the still fluid or pasty surface a thick layer of soft steel was poured. By careful manipulation the union of the surfaces was almost complete and it was impossible to detect the break in composition on viewing the fractured section. This method of manufacture was undoubtedly an improvement on the old compound method.

The increasing size, velocity and hardness of modern armor piercing projectiles have necessitated the introduction of the modern armor. The process of manufacture essentially consists in case hardening to a depth of about two inches the surface of a homogeneous tough nickel chrome steel. Special air or self hardening nickel and more complex steels are used for lighter armor gun shields and cast armored structures.

The steel is made in Siemens furnaces and carefully cast into ingots up to eighty tons in weight. These ingots are then slabs under powerful hydraulic presses (18,000 tons) or rolled direct to the required dimensions depending on the power of the mills and appliances. During the rolling operation which lasts about an hour the slab is reversed and inverted to attain uniformity of working and scale is removed by wood fagots and water. The slab is then usually quenched.

The next operation is that of case hardening and in this two plates are put face to face separated by a layer of the carburizing reagent. If it is solid or if gaseous hydrocarbons are used the plates are slightly separated to allow free passage for the hardening gases by holes arranged in rows. The plates are maintained at redness in a gas furnace for three weeks and withdrawn after the hardening carbon has penetrated to the required depth. The plates are then carburized and so made capable of being hardened but they are not yet actually hard. At this stage all holes are drilled and plugged and any bending or machining necessary is carried out.

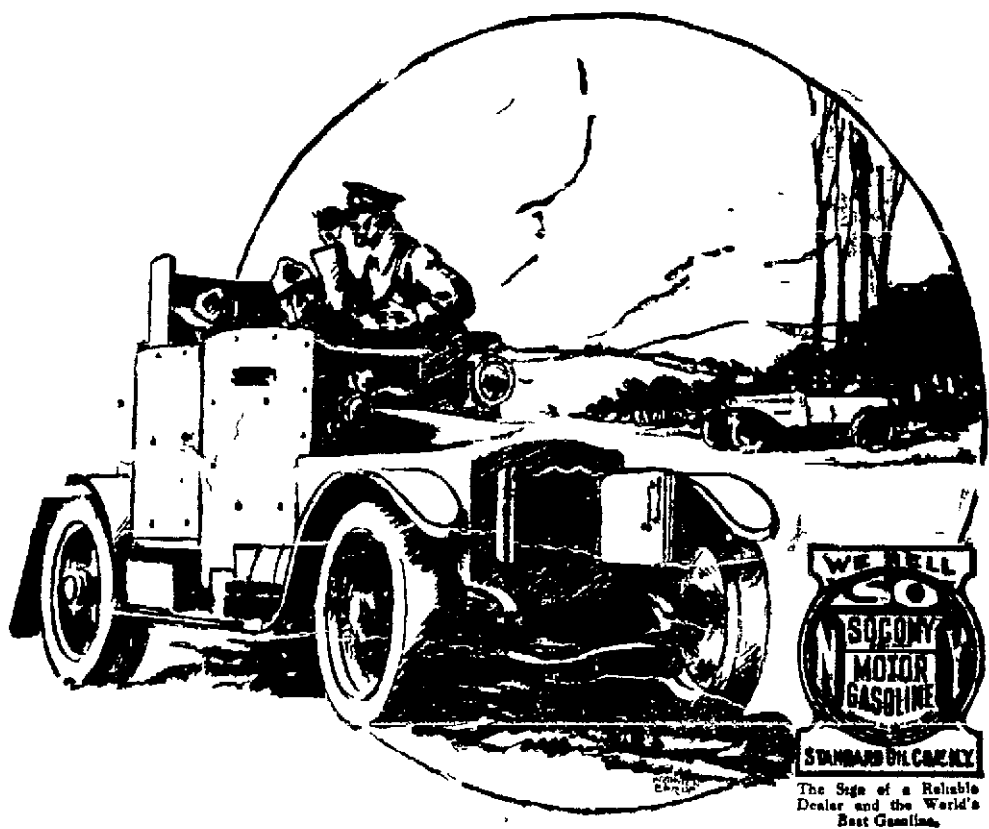

From this point onward the treatments differ. Some makers insist on heating and quenching in oil or water to remove any coarse structure that may have been formed during the long annealing while carburizing. The next essential operation is that of hardening and this is usually carried out in one of two ways. Either the plate is uniformly heated to the hardening temperature and quenched by a series of water jets playing on the upper surface with sufficient force to prevent the formation of steam or by a process known as differential quenching in which the carburized surface is heated to a temperature from which it will harden and the under side left well below so that the gradual fall in temperature from the top to the bottom. The whole plate is then immersed in water the hotter surface alone being hardened while the back is toughened. Further mechanical treatment can be carried out only by grinding or cutting with oxycutylene as the plate has now undergone the treatment conferring maximum hardness.

In resume it will be noted that there are three distinct operations in modern methods of manufacture—the mechanical working of the plate to the required dimensions, the carburization of the surface, quenching the carburized surface to harden it. These operations call for exact manipulation, supervision and control for the skill of the engineer and metallurgist may be put to the severest tests not of the laboratory or the testing machine but out in the gray mist when failure of a unit may imperil the safety and cohesion of the whole—Chambers' Tourmal.

GOOD RECORD FOR HIGH SCHOOL TEAM

Unbroken String of Victories in Baseball Season Shortened by War's Demands on Schools—High Individual Averages of Players.

Those gods of fate whose special job in life is to deal out hard luck were especially partial to athletic teams of the high school this year. Infantile paralysis prevented football in the fall and now the war has shortened the baseball season to but four games. Nevertheless, in those four games the team has shown championship calibre and probably would have continued their unbroken string of victories had not war nipped their chances. They played the last game of the season at Poughkeepsie last Saturday.

Their opponents included the best school teams along the river; Eastman's Business College of Poughkeepsie; Catskill high school; Raymond Reardon school of Highland; and the Poughkeepsie high school. Games scheduled with Albany, Troy and Saugerties high schools and the Christian Brothers' Academy were cancelled by those teams as a number of their players had enlisted in the country's service.

The team has some pretty good records to hand down to the sport posterity. Captain McAuliffe outshines his mates in this respect. The young twirler pitched a masterly game throughout and struck out 46 batters in the four games, allowing but 24 hits. Of these, his mates saw to it that only 16 scored. On the base line nearly every member of the team has distinguished himself. Joyce leading, with nine stolen bases, the team total being 41. So daring has been the running that of the team's 31 hits, 26 have been turned into scores. Kingston's opponents, however, have been a bit timid, which added to the Wilson-Joyce combination, and McAuliffe's crafty eye, were the factors in keeping their total down to 14.

Aside from his arduous pitching labors, McAuliffe found time to get away with a .417 batting average for the season, leading his charges by a safe margin. Joyce is the only other batter over the .300 mark, his average being .357. Cordts and Kiernan are third and fourth. The team average is .227.

FIELD MASS TO BE CELEBRATED MAY 27

A solemn high field mass will be celebrated on the lawn in front of St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Sunday morning, May 27. The mass will be of a military character, and the headquarters and supply companies of the Tenth New York Infantry, with the regimental band, will attend in a body, marching from the barracks on North Chestnut street to the church at 10:30. A concert will then be given by the band until 11 o'clock, when mass will be celebrated by Chaplain Kelley, of the Tenth Infantry, assisted by Rev. Father J. J. Hopkins, rector of St. Joseph's Church, and a priest from Dunwoodie Seminary. It is expected that the sermon will be delivered by the Very Rev. Dean J. J. Hickey of St. Mary's Church, Kingston, if his health permits of his presence here. This will be the first time that a military field mass will have been held in this section, and will be similar to those that are being daily held on the battlefields of Europe. There will be special singing by the choir. The public at large is invited to attend the mass. —New Paltz Times.

A MIXUP IN NORTH ROADOUT CALF DEAL

Abram Basch Agreed to Buy Calf of
Anthony Brudnock for $14—
Brudnock Said Calf to Another—
Court Action Follows.

An interesting story was brought to light in city court this morning when Recorder Lang sitting as city judge called the case of Abram Basch against Anthony Brudnock of North Roadout. Brudnock, who is Polish and speaks broken English had been brought to court on a summons secured by Basch, and did not know what he was brought to court for.

Mrs. Brudnock was also present in court, but she was unable to speak any English at all, and was accompanied by a neighbor woman who explained what she knew of the case.

From the story told by the neighbor the Brudnocks owned a calf. One day Mr. Basch drove out to North Roadout and made a deal with Brudnock to purchase the latter's calf and agreed to pay $14 for the animal. He said that he would come around on a Sunday morning early and get the calf.

Sunday arrived, but Mr. Basch did not, and as the day slipped by Mrs. Brudnock sold the calf to another man for $16, or $2 more than Basch had offered. Sunday afternoon about 5 o'clock Basch showed up at the Brudnock home and demanded the calf he had bought, and threw the purchase price, $14, on the table.

The neighbor said that Mrs. Brudnock had told Mr. Basch she had sold the calf and was not the owner any more, but that Mr. Basch went out leaving the $14 on the table and refused to take it back saying he wanted the calf he had bought. The neighbor said that Mrs. Brudnock had not been paid a deposit on the calf by Basch and as he did not call for it when he said he would she had gone ahead and sold it to another.

Both the neighbor and the Brudnocks it was plainly evident, had never been in court before and Mrs. Brudnock said the $14 given that Basch had left at the house on the judge's bench and was of the impression that as long as she returned Basch's money that was all there was to it.

Mr. Basch is suing the Brudnocks for $25. This amount included the $11 he had left with them as the purchase price for the calf and the difference is what he claims to have lost by not having the calf delivered to him. He claims he could have made a sale of the calf for the amount needed for.

Milton O. Auchincloss appeared for Basch.

Recorder Lang after hearing the Brudnocks' story as related by the neighbor woman advised her to tell the Brudnocks that he would adjourn the case for one week to give them a chance to consult a lawyer.

LEADING STEELS IN GOOD DEMAND

By Telegraph to the Freeman.

New York, May 18.—The most important feature of the trading in the steel market today was the continued good demand for all the leading steels. There was heavy trading in Steel Common, which made a gain of 1/4 to 1/2 followed by reaction to 12 1/2. Westinghouse was one of the prominent issues, being in brisk demand, and advancing 1 1/2 to 53, and gains of one point were made in minor steel issues, including Lackawanna Steel, Midvale Steel and Colorado Fuel. Pittsburgh Coal was another strong feature and advanced 1 point to 47 1/2. The copper stocks showed an improved tone with American Smelting advancing 1/4 to 103 1/4, and Anaconda moving up 1/2 to $1. The motor stocks were weak. Studebaker which sold ex-dividend, selling at 83, a net loss of 1/2, and General Motors dropped 1/2 to 102 1/4.

Holland's Great Dike.

One of the great dikes of Holland is 40 miles long, starting far up in the country, near the Yssel river, and continuing across the Hook of Holland to the sea. It was built in sections, and for seven centuries has held back the waters from the low-lying lands. It is 40 feet broad at the base, 35 feet broad at the top, and its height varies from 25 to 35 feet.

REAL BREAD ECONOMY

"The woman who wastes a crust wastes a bullet." Those who happen to look into the garbage cans of this land will readily understand the value of this suggestion. When you stop to think how many tasty dishes can be made of crusts of you realize how much is wasted when stale bread is thrown away. In most homes where our Wheat and Rye loaves find their way to the table, there is neither waste nor stale bread. The whole family enjoys our nicely browned, crisp, light, flaky bread which is now in greater demand than ever before.

HICKS ACCUSED OF SKIN THEFT

James Hicks a carpenter of this city was caught Thursday evening at the home of a lady friend on Gage street by Officer Connelly. The police have been looking for Hicks for several days past as Jacob Forst of Abel street had sworn out a warrant for Hicks arrest on a charge of stealing 13 lamb skins from the Forst warehouse on Abel street. These skins Hicks is accused of selling to some Hebrews. One of the Hebrews Max Kanrowitz was arrested on May 4 and when arraigned before Recorder Lang that day implicated Hicks who he said had sold him the skins. A warrant was issued but Hicks was out town. The police learned he was in the habit of visiting on Gage street and laid a trap to catch him when he returned to town. This morning at the request of Mr. Forst the case was adjourned for one week and Hicks was admitted to bail in the sum of $500 furnished by Fred H. Steeger and Charles R. Speer.

A large number of friends and parents of the children attended the ceremonies.

ARMY BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT

As Finally Passed It Provides for Increased Pay, Conscription Between 21 and 30 and Raising of Volunteers.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 18.—Some time before night a law conscripting young men of America for military duty will exist on the statute books of the land for the raising of the national army that will carry the stars and stripes to the trenches of Europe. Although the selective draft bill finally agreed upon by the senate and the house after weeks of bitter talk, had not reached the White House at noon, it was expected momentarily and it was learned the president was ready to affix his signature to it as soon as it was received.

Simultaneously with the signing of the bill there was to be issued a proclamation by the president setting a date when all men between 21 and 30 inclusive must register and be subject to the call to the colors. The Roosevelt amendment authorizing, but not directing, the president to raise four volunteer divisions was in the bill as finally passed, but whether the president will accept Roosevelt's offer to raise one or more divisions by exercising the authority, is still in doubt.

The army bill, which goes to the president today, was introduced in the Senate April 19, was passed April 28—in the Senate by a vote of 81 to 8 and in the House by 387 to 23—and has since been tied up in conference, returned there twice by the House to include the Roosevelt volunteer provision and further pay increases for enlisted men. Its chief provision are:

Raising of armed forces by the selective draft system, imposed on all men between the ages of twenty-one and thirty years, inclusive, subject to registration and certain exemptions from service.

Increasing the regular army to maximum war strength.

Drafting into the Federal service of National Guard units.

Raising of an initial force by conscription of 500,000 men, with addition of 500,000 if deemed necessary.

Raising, if the president sees fit, of four divisions of volunteer infantry (the Roosevelt amendment).

Increasing the pay of all enlisted men as follows: $15 additional monthly for those now receiving less than $21, comprising the bulk of the army, graduated downward to $5 additional monthly for those receiving $45 or more.

Prohibiting sale of liquor at or near army training camps and otherwise protecting morals of the soldiers.

The conscription age limits were agreed upon with much difficulty. The War Department proposed a minimum of nineteen and a maximum of twenty-five. The House voted to fix them at twenty-one and forty and the Senate at from twenty-one to twenty-seven, the compromise of twenty-one to thirty, inclusive, resulting.

After Saturday afternoon the tickets will be exchanged only at Rider's music store on Wall street.

ATTEMPT TO BLOW UP FORT.

Sentry Fires on Men in Auto Near Ordnance Building.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Fort Sheridan, Ill., May 18.—That the two unidentified men who escaped from sentries here last night had plotted to blow up the ordnance building, was the belief of officers today.

Both men were lurking near the building when surprised by Private Leo Kaploski of the Ohio Engineers. Kaploski was first apprised of the men's presence when he heard the noise of an automobile engine behind the magazine. As he turned the corner the machine sped out of sight.

Then Kaploski saw a man trying to hide beneath the porch. He ordered him to halt, but the man began to run. Kaploski fired five times, but failed to hit the stranger.

Urges Naval Recruiting.

A Ford touring car from the naval recruiting station in New York city was in town today distributing placards and posters urging young men to join the United States Navy. Several Kingston men are planning to enlist in the first line defense of the country.

BARBED WIRE IN WAR.

Putting Up and Cutting Down Barriers is Perilous Work.

The creation of war entanglements, even when the trenches are some distance apart, is at all times dangerous. The men slip over the parapet and in the first place pound in the supports with mallets, the heads of which are carefully wrapped in cloth in order to deaden the sound. Two other men carry the wire drum—a wooden cylinder round which the wire is collected by means of a long pole through the center, and a comrade attaches the wires to the supports.

The work is slow and nerve strain is, says a writer in the London Graphic, for star shells burst often and compel the men to crouch low and remain motionless until the flare burns out.

To each soldier who takes part in modern warfare thick gloves for gripping wire and strong pliers for cutting it are as essential as the rifle and bayonet.

Before an assault by his own regiment the soldier cuts his own wire, and he must then endeavor as best he may to cut and back his way through the enemy's, pulling down a support here, cutting the wires while the machine gun batteries rap out their message of death toward him.

Thus barbed wire, so simple in itself, so deadly when used in the ways described, enters into every phase of operation in the firing zone.

The Money Changers.

The money changers whom Jesus drove out of the temple were the dealers who supplied half-shekel for such a premium as they might be able to exact from Jews who came from all parts of the world to Jerusalem during the great festivals and were required to pay their tribute or ransom money in Hebrew coin.

An Important Distinction.

"One great difference between a man and a mule," began the affable cynic, "is that a mule is very quiet just before he registers a kick."

ABERNETHY CASE ARGUED THURSDAY

The famous automobile case of Abel B. Abernethy against Adelbert H. Chambers and Kenneth Archer, was argued before the appellate division on Thursday by Judge N. Frank O'Reilly with John M. Caskin of counsel for the plaintiff and Frank W. Brooks for the defendants. This is an appeal from two orders of the trial term of Ulster county, one denying plaintiff's motion to treble damages and the other setting aside as to the defendant Chambers the verdict of the jury and granting him a new trial, unless plaintiff filed a stipulation in writing within 15 days from service of said order, reducing the verdict of $75 to $50, which the jury who heard the case awarded Abernethy in an action to recover $150 damages for injuries to Abernethy's automobile. This automobile case was tried before Judge Hasbrouck in supreme court in October of last year.

To Attend Choate Funeral.

Judge Clearwater was designated by Judge Charles Evans Hughes to attend the funeral of Joseph H. Choate, as one of the representatives of the State Bar Association. The judge escorted Mr. Choate from his residence to New Brunswick last October when Rutgers College conferred upon him the degree of Doctor of Laws. On the way back Mr. Choate said that he had received many degrees from many institutions of learning but that none of the ceremonies had been characterized by greater dignity, simplicity and impressiveness, and he added—"I always have a comfortable feeling when I am in the company of you Dutchmen. There never is any strain."

FLAGSTAFF RAISED ON ACADEMY GREEN

The staff from which the flag purchased with the Dorothy Freeman Flag Fund will be unfurled on Memorial Day was raised today at noon on the old Kingston Academy green without any set ceremonies. A copper cylinder containing the names of the donors of cash, material and labor was placed in a crack inside a brick vault which was covered with a stone and cemented. This vault is under the flag mast. Brief remarks were made by Mayor Canfield, Griffin A. Hart and the Rev. Father Lange. Others present were Abram Freeman, Charles A. Warren, Ward B. Everett, David Burgoon, W. W. Whitaker, E. B. Miller of Woodland, E. T. Stelle, E. Otis Van Aken, Abram Van Aken, William Van Gaasbeek, Henry Greene and Martin Faulkner. The flag staff was supplied by W. G. Johnston.

Fire on Brickyard.

Thursday evening about 11:30 an alarm of fire was rung in from Box 15 to which the firemen responded. A double house on Terry's brickyard occupied by negro laborers on the yard, was totally destroyed by the flames. Other buildings nearby were saved by the work of the department.

Certificate Filed.

Nicholas and Filomena Brown of Atwood have filed a certificate with the county clerk stating that they intend to continue the general grocery and merchandise business at Atwood, formerly conducted by the late James Brown, under the assumed name of James Brown & Brothers.

BOY SCOUTS' AID FOR ENLISTMENTS

Owing to the lack of interest manifested among the youths of Kingston to the call of the navy department for enlistments, there have been to date only four or five such enlistments in Kingston, a special effort is being made by that department to arouse a deeper interest among the youths here. The Boy Scouts have been asked to assist in placarding the city and in other ways to stimulate an interest among the young men eligible for navy service.

At 10 o'clock Saturday morning the Scouts are asked to meet in C. A. Warren's store on Fair street, for the purpose of having placed before them plans whereby they can be serviceable to the navy department. All the Scouts are requested to report.

DECIDE ROBBINS IS SANE.

Tramp Must Stand Trial for Slaying of Prison Keeper.

District Attorney Alexander of Albany Thursday announced that Had-den Robbins, negro prisoner at the Albany penitentiary, who struck Keeper Francis Campbell a death blow in the penitentiary yard two weeks ago, has been declared sane by the four physicians, including two mental experts, who have examined him. Robbins now faces indictment, and will probably be charged with manslaughter, first degree.

Meanwhile Robbins will be kept in the penitentiary to serve out his term of six months, to which he was sentenced from Ulster county as a state tramp in January. At the expiration of his sentence he will be re-arrested and formally charged with the killing of Campbell.

MANY TO BE HIT BY INCOME TAXES

If the income tax provision in the new federal revenue bill becomes law in its present form income taxes will interest a great many more people, and interest them more deeply, than does the present income tax law. Single men with incomes of $1,000 and married men with incomes of $2,000 are still exempt, but above those figures the tax is levied and rises steadily as the income increases. A married man with an income of $3,000 who now pays no income tax, will have to pay $20, a married man with an income of $4,000 who now pays nothing, will have to pay $40, a married man with an income of $5,000, who now pays $20, will have to pay $80, and if his income is $10,000, he will have to pay $350. From $2,000 to $4,000 he will pay two per cent, from $4,000 to $10,000 he will have to pay four per cent and a surtax of one per cent on all over $5,000. As a revenue measure an income tax is very effective because it is a very hard tax to dodge. As an incentive to taxpayers to take a keener interest in public expenditures, it is likely to stimulate interest in public affairs if the exemption is fixed low enough.

MAN FLAGS TRAIN ALONG WALLKILL

Much excitement was caused Wednesday when the 10:47 northbound Wallkill Valley train, carrying the United States mail, was held up about half a mile north of Walden along the outskirts of Crandall's woods. In rounding a sharp curve in the road the engineer saw a man standing in the middle of the tracks, waving his coat above his head as a signal to halt the train.

The emergency brakes were applied and the train stopped. As the brakeman ran ahead to investigate, the man who had signaled the train burst out into a stream of profanity. Believing the man was crazy and getting no satisfactory reason for his action, the engineer continued to run to the Wallkill station. From there word of the incident was phoned back to Operator Mulligan in Walden, who promptly reported the affair to Chief of Police Ronk. Chief Ronk secured an auto and hurried to the scene, where he located the man, seated before a fire he had built in the woods.

When questioned he said he was just resting, that his name was T. P. McAndrews and that his home was in Rondout. He is about 30 years old, medium height, and smooth face and wore a blue suit and bow tie. The man said he had stopped the train because he had found two defective ties along the track. The man said he didn't want to see a train wrecked and that because of the trouble in Europe "we don't want to take any chances nowadays." The man told Chief Ronk he had been committed to the Middletown State Asylum four years ago in August. He said also he was not a railroad man but "had been traveling by water and expected to go back soon."

The tracks and ties were examined and found in good condition. It is believed the man is insane. He is to be arraigned before Justice Wiley and an effort made to verify some of his statements, particularly with reference to his commitment to the asylum.

Dairy Made a Defendant.

Twenty-eight persons who suffered family losses during the typhoid fever epidemic in South Brooklyn and Bay Ridge in 1915, have entered suits for damages aggregating $500,000 against the Ideal Dairy Company of 202 Twentieth street, Brooklyn. The plaintiffs allege they bought the milk with the assurance that it was pasteurized and pure. They claim that it was neither, and that it caused the epidemic. Among the suits is one for $50,000 by Mrs. Hilda Sepia. Her husband, died of typhoid and left her with eight children to support.

Highland Estate Sold.

The J. R. Bray estate in Vineyard avenue, Highland, has been sold to New York parties for $10,000. Mr. Bray is the noted cartoonist who made the teddy bear famous, and on this place the first Bray studio was started with only one man drawing, soon became so popular that five men were employed, and now Mr. Bray is employing between forty and fifty men in his New York studio.

Grange to Buy Building.

Judge Hasbrouck has signed an order granting Huguenot Grange, No. 1,023, P. of H., of New Paltz, the right to purchase the old Wallkill Lodge, Knights of Pythias, property in New Paltz and execute thereon a mortgage to cover a part of the purchase price.

Preparing for Apple Crop.

Harold E. Niver, one of the progressive fruit growers of Ancram, has just purchased from the Canfield Supply Company a very complete power spraying outfit, which is operated by a New Way air cooled engine.

A Thimble for a Mouse Trap.

Put some moist cornmeal in an ordinary thimble. Then put a china bowl, upside down, the edge resting on the large end of the thimble. The mouse will go under the bowl and begin to nibble at the meal, pushing the thimble outward to secure the last bits of meal adhering to the sides. This will cause the bowl to slip down over the mouse.

FRANK B. WILLIS.

FIVE MINUTE TALKS BY NATION.
AL LEADERS.
By Frank B. Willis.
Former Governor of Ohio.

A national nominating convention is an institution typically American, not only this, but it personifies better than any other convention or governmental agency the spirit of American life.

The delegates are fresh from the people; they have but recently smelled the smoke of battle in the conflict of ideas which attends the nomination of a candidate of one of the great political parties. The vast majority of these delegates are imbued with the desire to serve their country best by serving their party wisely; they are inspired by the elevating thought that they are for the time being a part of the real government of the country and have a serious responsibility to perform.

Incidentally, it may be said that it will be a sad day for the country when the government usurps the activities that belong to the individual citizens; there comes from the deliberations of a great nominating convention a sense of responsibility and self-sacrificing patriotism which would be blunted and finally killed by the effort to fit these voluntary political activities of the citizen interested in party organization to the mechanistic bed of the forms of law. The primary has its proper place in the nomination of county, district and state candidates, but to attempt to extend it to the nomination of candidates for the presidency would tend to kill the national spirit, which in recent years has had but a feeble existence.

Pipe smokers! Look at this cigarette "ad"

How to open the package

Tear off part of the top only, as shown

Cigarettes in paper packages of 20 are carried more handily this way, and keep better less likely to spill into your pocket.

YOU'VE always wanted just the right cigarette for those times and places that the good old pipe wouldn't do. And here it is—the new Lucky Strike cigarette—made after the same formula as the famous Lucky Strike tobacco.

Pipe smokers tell us it's the first cigarette that ever satisfied them. It's just like a short, convenient pipe smoke—the real Burley cigarette with the Burley flavor sealed in and improved by toasting. Lucky Strike—a new cigarette created for pipe smokers.

It's toasted

GUARD IN U. S. SERVICE IN JULY

Will be Ordered Mustered in in Three Lots, July 15 and 25 and August 5.—To be Mobilized Immediately.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

Washington, May 18.—The orders which will immediately mobilize the entire national guard of the United States and which will bring the various increments of that branch into the regular service, will be signed by President Wilson immediately after he affixes his signature to the draft bill this afternoon. This was determined on by the war department today. All increments that are not already in the service will be ordered mustered in in three lots. The first will be called on July 15; the second on July 25 and the third on August 5.

The orders to this effect have been sent to the adjutant generals of the various states by the militia branch of the war department.

The guard will be called out as follows:

- July 15—New York, Pennsylvania, Ohio, West Virginia, Michigan, Wisconsin, Iowa, North Dakota, South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota.
- July 25—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Tennessee, Illinois, Montana, Wyoming, Idaho, Washington, Oregon.
- August 5—Indiana, Kentucky, Georgia, Alabama, Mississippi, Arkansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma, Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Colorado, New Mexico, Arizona, Utah, California.

It was learned here today that the militia division of the army has been working night and day, endeavoring to bring the guard up to war strength. To do this, they have been sighting the enlistments to the regular army.

As has been pointed out by the war department the general plan as agreed upon at the recent conference of governors was to bring the guard into active service in a first line while the regular army was being extended to war strength through the breaking up of certain of its regimental units which were to be expanded into additional regiments. This will now be done.

U. S. A. HOSPITAL UNIT IN LONDON

By Telegram to The Freeman.

London, May 18.—Just aching to get into action, the first contingent of the United States army medical unit arrived here today. Their arrival was officially announced. The men said they wanted to start for the front right away.

Washington, May 18.—The first American military hospital unit for service in France has reached Great Britain, and soon will be on its way to the western battle front.

Cleveland, O., A cablegram announcing its arrival was received by Surgeon General Blue from Ambassador Page at London this afternoon.

KINDERGARTEN MAY DANCE

Large Assemblage Entertained by Miss Costello's Pupils.

There was a large and delighted assemblage of the parents and friends of the pupils of Miss Costello's Kindergarten, at the school this morning, the occasion being the May Day exercises, which were as charming as any such events as are entered into by such wee tots can be. The exercises took place out of doors and consisted of music and the crowning of the May Queen, together with pretty dances. Little Margaret O'Meara was the gracious and winsome little queen, her maids of honor being Betty Murphy and Harriet Israel. The pages were Mark Pennington, who, with much dignity, crowned the queen.

Work has been started on the new addition to O. M. Kennedy's Central Garage on Fair street. On account of increasing business it was necessary to install this second station. Work on remodeling the garage is progressing.

George J. Schryver of the Kingston Taxi Service has sold a one and a quarter ton Kuebler truck to the Kingston Gas and Electric Company, a Smith extension truck to the Everett & Treadwell Company, and a farm tractor to A. D. Rand of West Camp.

An announcement conveying the intelligence that the American Express Company had purchased a large block of the government bonds of the Liberty Loan of 1917, and would give an opportunity to all its employees to purchase such bonds at actual cost, has been received by the local agent for that company. The company will extend privileges to the public to subscribe for the bonds as well as to its own employees.

May Dance

The Light Society of the Immaculate Conception parish will have a big dance at their school hall Saturday evening, May 19. Popular music will be furnished by Prof. Schwalbach. Refreshments a la Rondout will be served. Pleasant evening is assured to all who attend.

Church Music at Vassar

SPY ZONE COVERS STATE ARMORIES

United States Marshal McCarthy has received notice from Washington that New York state armories are included in the barred zone proclamation issued by President Wilson.

McCarthy had asked for instructions as a result of inquiries that had been pouring in from citizens as well as aliens. Under this interpretation, no subject of a nation at war with the United States will be permitted to reside or do business or to be employed within one half mile of any armory without obtaining special permission from the United States Marshal of the district, such as is required in the barred zones around Federal property. The president's proclamation did not specifically mention armories. On the point Washington now rules that an armory is an "arsenal" within the meaning of the proclamation.

Thousands of Germans and other aliens will be affected by the establishment of these barred zones, particularly in Manhattan and Brooklyn.

EXAMINATION OF CO. M RECRUITS

Major Cranston, M. C., will be at the armory this evening to examine young men desiring enlistment in Company M. The examination of recruits will take place at 8 o'clock and there is no reason why a goodly number of young men will not take advantage and join the local National Guard Company before the selective conscription bill becomes a law.

By enlisting in Company M the boys will be among friends and acquaintances, who as a rule, generally look for the welfare of the company at large. Should the conscription be forced upon Kingston boys, and they go amongst strange officers and men, they will find that during their handshakes, thoughts would be on the boys of Company M, who have always stood by each other in all their circumstances.

Fair for Forty Days?

Thursday was Ascension Day and aside from its religious significance it is considered almost as important as winter hog day as a harbinger of weather. As the sun shone and clear dry weather ruled so the veers claim will be the next forty days.

The train slowed down passing through Kingston and the Red Cross insignia on the doctors and nurses aboard was plainly seen.

LOCAL DEATH RECORD.

Recent Deaths and Funerals of Persons in This Vicinity.

Newburgh people have heard with regret of the death of Miss Pearl H. Hopler, formerly secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association, last Saturday in Denver, Colorado, from tuberculosis, in her thirty-seventh year.

Aaron Cohen received word on Thursday of the death of his aunt, Mrs. Morris Elting, who died at New York City. Mrs. Elting was well known in this city, being a sister of Mrs. Cohen, mother of Ralph and Aaron Cohen.

The funeral of Althea E. Barnhardt, widow of Willis Barnhardt, who died at her home on Downs street Thursday, will be held from the late residence, No. 34 Downs street on Saturday evening, at 7:30 o'clock. The interment will be in the Union Grove Cemetery.

Corporal William Sachs, company clerk of the machine gun company of the Seventy-first Regiment of New York City, died Thursday at a Newburgh hospital as the result of injuries sustained on Monday morning, when in the darkness he fell a distance of about 60 feet from the Ontario & Western railroad bridge, near Orr's Mills.

Morgan Turner died at his home in Edenville on Thursday evening after a long illness. Mr. Turner was one of Edenville's most respected citizens and for many years he conducted a general store at that place with his father under the firm name of B. J. Turner & Son. Later he conducted a brickyard at Port Jervis. Besides his wife he is survived by two brothers, Harry and Jersey City, and Thomas R. Turner of Brooklyn, and one sister, Mrs. H. J. Hoffman of this city. Mr. Turner was a member of Rondout Lodge, No. 343, F. & A. M. The funeral services, which will be private, will be held on Sunday. A Masonic service will be held at the grave in Montepose Cemetery.

In the death of William U. Mason, at his home, No. 171 Main street, on Thursday, there passed beyond, a man long identified with the business, fraternal and religious life of Kingston. A lifelong citizen of Kingston, having been born in this city September 16th, 1835, Mr. Mason had a host of friends, who deeply appreciated his sterling character, his kindness of spirit and gentility of disposition. Mr. Mason was the son of Lewis and Mariah (Swartz) Mason, and a grandson of Joseph Mason who resided in New York City. He received his education in the Kingston schools and at the Kingston Academy. He commenced his business career when only a lad, in the store of Samuel Frame on North Front street, at the head of Crown street, about where the store of James Kelly is now located. Here he continued in the grocery business with Mr. Frame until 1875, when he opened and operated a freight house on the Hudson. In 1875 he went into business at the North Front street store, for himself, and there continued until, in 1886, he built the store on Wall street, where he carried on the grocery business in more commodious quarters and with an ever increasing custom. He was the owner and proprietor of the well known "Mason's Baking Powder," so well known to a host of Ulster county home keepers because of its uniform reliability and purity. He continued the manufacture of this article for some time after he gave up actively the grocery business. On December 18th, 1885, Mr. Mason married Miss Mary E. Krom, who died July 25th, 1914. For many years, Mr. and Mrs. Mason resided on Main street in the house which was later purchased and in part converted into the Wiltyck inn, and there, as in their home at No. 171 Main street, Mr. and Mrs. Mason cordially made most welcome, at all times, their many, many friends. In politics, Mr. Mason was a Democrat, and fraternally he was a member of the Exempt Firemen and also of Kingston Lodge, No. 10, F. & A. M., which organization will have charge of the funeral services. Mr. Mason was for years an active and always a loyal member of the First Reformed and Dutch Church, serving at various times in its Consistory. He was most faithful in attendance and liberal in his support of the church, where the funeral services will be held on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. While Mr. Mason had been in failing health for more than a year, he was seriously ill for only a week, and his death comes as a shock to his friends. He is survived by his niece, Mrs. Eliza Mason Lord, whose devotion to him has been that of
